THE SIEGE OF VICKSBURG.

No Later News Received from Gen. Grant.

A Somewhat Protracted Siege Considered Probable.

Further Reports of the Operations of Last Week.

Capture of the Batteries Above and Below Vicksburgh.

The Rebels Driven into Their Last Line of Fortifications.

The Latest Rebel Reports Through the Richmond Papers.

GREAT HOPES OF JOE JOHNSTON.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, May 28.

Another day has passed without anything, official or otherwise, from Vicksburgh. There begins to be talk in official circles of a probability that the siege may last a fortnight.

Thursday, 28—Midnight.

There is nothing later from Vicksburgh than that already communicated to the public.

The Star, of this afternoon, says that private information from experienced officers now in the vicinity of Vicksburgh, written as Gen. GRANT was about to commence the siege of that city, expressed the opinion that it would be the work of a week or two at least ere its reduction could be looked for.

REPORTS RECEIVED FROM CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Thursday, May 28.

A special Cairo dispatch to Gen. LEE, of Kansas, confirms the report that two of the outer works of the enemy at Vicksburgh have been taken.

In Friday's attack on the fortifications the battle was very sanguinary. The National loss was severe. The rebels fought with great coolness and desperation, reserving their fire until our forces came within a murderous range.

The rebels, however, were driven back by main force into the last line of their intrenchments.

This was the situation on Friday evening, May 22.

Jackson, Miss., has been destroyed by the Federal force that occupied that place, and this force is now acting as a reinforcement to Gen. GRANT.

When the boat left on Saturday morning, our mortar-boats were throwing occasional shells into Vicksburgh.

We have captured the batteries both above and below the town.

REPORTS RECEIVED AT CAIRO.

CAIRO, Thursday, May 28.

The steamer Imperial arrived at Memphis Monday morning. From Capt. STEARNS, a passenger, we learn the following:

The fighting Friday was desperate. Gen. GRANT charged the fortifications and took some of them. The rebels rallied and retook them. There was much hand-to-hand fighting.

Capt. STEVENS says our loss that day, in killed wounded and missing, was about 5,000. The rebels used hand-grenades when our forces attempted to storm the works.

It was reported that one corps of PANE' army had arrived at Warrenton.

AN INSIDE VIEW OF VICKSBURGH.

From the Washington Chronicle, 28th.

Last evening the following named officers arrived from Libby Prison, Richmond: Capt. F. H. W. Fontaine, U. S. M. corps; Thomas Carstairs, U. S. N., W. S. Pease, U. S. N.; W. W. Hovey, U. S. N.; Gardner Phipps, U. S. N.; D. Hawksworth, U. S. N.; Thomas Scholes, U. S. N.; Thomas Dwight, Thomas McElmill, U. S. N.; John H. Yates, U. S. N.; Lieut.-Col. D. L. Stricker, U. S. N.; J. H. Penfield, Fifth New-York cavalry; T. Lenns, U. S. M. C., G. W. Vaise, U. S. N.

Nearly all of these gentlemen were the officers of the United States gunboat Indianola, which was ran into near the mouth of the Red River, on the 24th of February last, by rebel rams, and sunk. They were landed by the rebels at Port Gibson, and confined there until the 1st of March, when they were ordered to prepare for a march to Vicksburgh. The distance was fifty miles, and was traveled on foot, three days being consumed in making the journey. They reached Vicksburgh on Tuesday evening, and were confined in several buildings in the middle of the city.

One hour in the morning and another in the afternoon of each day they were allowed the privilege of walking out for exercise, but always under a strict guard,

The officers say that the rebels were particularly careful to walk them in localities where not much information could be obtained about the extent of the defences, or how many men were in the intrenchments.

The streets of Vicksburgh were fairly studded with rifle pits, and every favorable spot along the wharves or in the suburbs, had there kind of defences constructed on them. Where it was necessary, yards of houses were taken and used in the above manner, and very often earthworks were thrown up around the dwellings. In consequence of these obstructions very few wagons were seen in the streets.

The rebel reports that the people of Vicksburgh had plenty to eat, are pronounced by these officers to be untrue. Very little else but corn bread and small quantities of meat were to be had, these being the only fare of our officers.

THE LATEST REBEL REPORTS.

A Cessation of Cannonading on Sunday Morning.

FORT MONROE, Thursday, May 28.

The following extracts are clipped from the Richmond Whig of the 27th:

MOBILE, Monday, May 25.

A special dispatch to the Evening News, dated Jackson, May 24, (Sunday,) says firing was heard till 9 o'clock this morning. No report of artillery has been heard since that hour. This morning the Twentieth Mississippi regiment (mounted) dashed into Raymond, capturing 400 prisoners. Fourteen have been brought to this city. The rest being sick or wounded, were paroled.

JACKSON, Monday, May 25.

An officer who left Vicksburgh Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock, says the enemy attacked our left and centre four times. The first attack lasted thirty minutes, the second twenty minutes, the third fifteen, and the fourth nine minutes. They were repulsed each time. Our loss was eighty men. When the column of assault was brought up on Wednesday, the officers leading the troops broke, and the column disappeared. On Thursday the enemy were engaged in shelling our intrenchments. Our works toward Warrenton have not been menaced. [The Warrenton batteries have been in our possession some time. —ED. TIMES.] The Federal line of investment is imperfect.

Some of the prisoners taken report that Gen. SEELS was killed.

The Whig also has the following editorial:

VICKSBURGH.

We give under the telegraphic head some encouraging news from Vicksburgh, based upon the situation of affairs on Thursday evening last. Speaking of the investment of that stronghold announced in the dispatches of last week, the Mobile Register says:

"Unless we have been strangely misinformed as to the strength of the place, it cannot be carried by storm. The town is well garrisoned and provisioned; and the reduction of such a place by siege is a slow operation."

Meanwhile, Gen. JOE. JOHNSTON has yet to play his part in the drama. He is behind the enemy with a pretty large force, and that daily accumulating. From all accounts troops are still pouring toward Jackson from the East. Gen. GRANT will have to encounter PEMBERTON in his works in front, and defend himself against JOHNSTON in his rear. It will probably require weeks or months to reduce Vicksburgh. In the meanwhile the chances of war open abundant hopes of raising the siege by cutting off GRANT from his supplies, or by assaulting him in his lines.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, May 28.

The Richmond Whig, of the 25th inst., contains a telegram by way of Mobile, saying that the latest intelligence from Vicksburgh is up to Thursday night, and adding:

"The enemy has been foiled in all his efforts. His dead strew the ground in front of our works. Our estimate of his loss is ten thousand."

[This, it will be observed, is simply a repetition of the report which we had on Wednesday by telegraph. —ED. TIMES.]

REPORTS FROM MURFREESBORO.

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, May 28.

The Bulletin has a special dispatch from Cincinnati, which gives news said to have been received by way of Murfreesboro. It is to the following effect:

"We have rebel news that Gen. PEMBERTON has repulsed six assaults upon Vicksburgh, but that they greatly feared the next assault, which was about being made."

The rebels also say that Gen. LOSING had cut his way through at Haines' Bluff and escaped.

The fact of the matter is, that whoever commanded the rebel forces at Haines' Bluff was cut off from communication with the rebel forces at Vicksburgh.

REPORTS OF REBEL DESERTERS.

NOT MORE THAN TEN THOUSAND REBEL TROOPS AT PORT HUDSON.

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, May 28.

The Evening Bulletin of this city has the following special dispatch:

CINCINNATI, Thursday, May 28.

A number of conscripts from the Fiftieth Tennessee rebel regiment reached Cairo on the 25th inst. They were on their way from Port Hudson to join Gen. BRAGG's army when the battle of Raymond was fought. In the fight they refused to fire on the Federals, and shot into the air.

After this engagement they encamped at Mississippi Springs, where they had 1,500 reinforcements from Alabama.

In the middle of the night about half of the Fiftieth rebel Tennessee regiment left their camp, determined to make their way into the Federal lines.

They say there have been at no time more than 10,000 rebel troops at Port Hudson.

The Loss in the Battle of Thompson's Hills—The Rebel Officers, &c.

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, writing from Jackson, estimates our loss in the battle of Thompson's Hills at 685, all told. He says:

"It has been my fortune recently to meet a gentleman from Jackson, one of the employes of the Mississippian, who has traveled extensively in Dixie, and is thoroughly posted as to the enemy's situation. From him I have learned several interesting particulars of distinguished rebel Generals, and the condition and topography of the country, which I reproduce for the instruction and amusement of your readers. This gentleman was formerly a resident of Illinois, where his parents now reside. He has for several months been the telegraphic correspondent of the Mississippian. When he came South a year ago, he was arrested as a Federal spy, and thrown into the penitentiary at Jackson, from which he was released after three months' incarceration, upon his producing unmistakable evidence of his loyalty to the Southern cause. He came into our lines on the day of the battle of Thompson's Hills, and gave Gen. GRANT valuable information. His presence among us, on account of his antecedents, was viewed with considerable suspicion, and Gen. GRANT thought proper to send him to Alton under proper guard. I do not vouch for the correctness of his statements, but give them as I have received them

Lieut.-Gen. PEMBERTON was born in Pennsylvania, graduated at West Point, and at the commencement of the rebellion was an officer in the Federal army on the frontier, in command of two companies of artillery. His command was ordered to Washington and reached Baltimore during the time the riot was in progress. PEMBERTON resigned his position, and then went to Richmond and tendered his services to President DAVIS, was accepted and given the command of a regiment of cavalry. He was afterwards made a Brigadier and sent to the Department of South Carolina. No one ever heard that he accomplished any brilliant deeds in that Department, but he was an especial pet of DAVIS, and was soon after made a Major-General. After a short time he was sent to the Department of Mississippi and East Louisiana and promoted to a Lieutenant-Generalcy. Socially Gen. PEMBERTON is a brute. If you have business of a military character he is approachable, but not otherwise. He dresses plainly, and his personal carriage is stiff and ungraceful. In temper he is brutal and unmanageable, continually in a quarrel with his Adjutant and Staff. Soldiers and citizens are displeased with him, both socially and as a military chieftain, and demand his transfer to some other department. The War Department at Richmond have unlimited confidence in him, however, and there is no prospect of a change. The President, in his address to the faithful at Jackson, some time ago, spoke in extravagant terms of him as a military man, and advised hearty acquiescence in all his plans.

His personal characteristics are: height 5 feet 10 inches; eyes, dark gray; nose, keen, sharp and straight; voice, coarse and rough, speaks quickly, and plumes himself upon his dignity; is reserved in his manner; believes in Gen. PEMBERTON, and don't care a rush for public opinion.

Gen. LOSING is a native of Mississippi, and is considered one of the best officers in the Southern army. He lost an arm in the Mexican war. His personal characteristics are those of a gentleman, treats everybody with profound respect, and espouses the cause of the rebels because he believes it just. He is five feet nine inches high, dresses magnificently, and aims to secure the confidence of his men. He is a jovial, good-hearted fellow, and worthy of a better cause. He was recently in command at Greenwood, where the Federal troops were repulsed, and is now in the vicinity of Vicksburgh.

Brig.-Gen. C. D. LEE is a South Carolinian, and when he became a rebel was a First Lieutenant in the Federal army. He graduated at West Point, and bears the reputation of an excellent soldier. This officer commands the Vicksburgh batteries, and all the artillery in the district of Vicksburgh. It is said that he was so indignant at the recent running of the blockade by the transports and gunboats, that he sent all the gunners with their officers in irons to Richmond.

Gen. LEE dresses plainly, and acts the gentleman. JEFF. DAVIS believes in LEE, and ascribes to him the possession of extraordinary military genius. His conduct in the battle of Chickasaw Bayou is highly commended. Gen. LEE is considered one of the rising men of the Confederacy.

The topography of the country between Big Black and Vicksburgh is not unlike that between Grand Gulf and Big Black—a trifle less uneven perhaps, but there are the same hills and valleys, the same brave old forests, the same sweet scented magnolias, just now in full bloom, the same dense cane brakes, and the same natural positions, easily fortified and easily defended. A good road leads to Vicksburgh.

There are no guns mounted in the rear of Vicksburgh, although there is every likelihood there will be now, that we are menacing the city from the rear. There are heavy breastworks thrown up at intervals of two or three hundred yards, regular in conformation, and ready to receive artillery at short notice. These extend back from Vicksburgh for five miles, and are so constructed that they command the approaches from every direction. Our advance will be sternly resisted.

There is one gunboat in Big Black River, the Paul Jones, an inferior side-wheel transport, formerly used as a freight boat. The rebels have clad her with cotton, and mounted three guns upon her, one a 32-pounder Parrott, and two 12-pounder brass pieces. There are beside three other steamers, the Charm, Dot, and another, whose name my informant does not remember. None of these can pass the railroad bridge.

The country through which the river flows is of surpassing beauty and ordinarily rich in the great staple; just now, in obedience to the mandate of JEFFERSON, it is planted to cereals. Not an acre of cotton can be found in the entire region. There are no towns on the Big Black below the bridge. Just at that point the rebels have built a sort of fort, upon which they have mounted several guns. I am profoundly ignorant of their number, size and position.

The railroad bridge crosses Big Black at a point 14 miles from Vicksburgh, due east. The structure is one mile and a half long, and composed of light trestle-work. In the centre, directly over the stream, it is lofty, but gradually decreases in height on either side as you rise the lower bottom lands and strike the crest of the hills beyond. This bridge is the main artery of Vicksburgh. Once cut it off, and stop the ebb and flow of provisions and soldiers, and the heart—the city—dies. Lieut.-Col. THOMPSON, the Inspector-General of the Department, says that Vicksburgh is 'gone up' if the bridge be taken. Col. THOMPSON has made many a less foolish and untrue remark.

The roadway across the bridge is covered with heavy plank, to facilitate the crossing of artillery. The present force is small, but when threatened, troops will be moved thither, and the position most pertinaciously defended.

Jackson is the capital of Mississippi, and the shire town of Holmes County. Its population is about 5,000. It has peculiar importance as the general headquarters of the Western Department of the great and glorious Confederacy. There are two hotels in Jackson, which make some pretensions to elegance—the Confederate House and the Bowman House. The price of board is a mere bagatelle—only $7 a day.

Jackson is entirely without fortifications, and a thousand men could have captured the city at any time before the present. Manufactures are flourishing—especially those of cotton. The penitentiary is turning out an immense amount of these goods. There is also a foundry for casting shot and shell, and an arsenal at Jackson.

There are two daily papers published in Jackson, the Memphis Appeal and Daily Mississippian. The latter is much the more extensive establishment, although the Appeal has the largest circulation. Both papers are making money. The circulation of the Mississippian is 8,000 daily, at $30 a year, and 15,000 weekly, at $10 a year. There are connected with the establishment 20 compositors, 2 editors, 6 clerks and 4 penman. F. T. COOPER, the principal Editor, is a man of moderate abilities, but industrious and painstaking. The Assistant Editor, THOMPSON, is a brilliant, erratic genius, given to poetry and whisky. He is a hard drinker, intoxicated three days out of five.

In the Penitentiary of Jackson, SPENCER KELLOGG, fourth master of the gunboat Essex, is confined as a spy. He was apprehended about the middle of last August, and has ever since been kept in close confinement. For some reason the Confederate authorities refuse him a trial. The attention of Gen. GRANT has been called to his case, and efforts will be made for his release."

FROM THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

The Rebel Force Believed to be Much Reduced—Rebel Fishing in the Rappahannock Stopped, &c.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, May 28.

From the statements of gentlemen who have just arrived from the Rappahannock, it seems probable that the rebels have greatly reduced their strength, and are maintaining a mere shell in front of our lines. If this were positively known to the military authorities, it is probable that our forces would not much longer remain inactive.

It is further represented, and in consequence of certain information having been received by citizens of Falmouth, which was not obtained through legitimate channels, in relation to affairs in the enemy's lines, and as it was believed such information had been communicated by rebel soldiers who have been engaged in hauling seines in the Rappahannock, a note was addressed to Gen. LEE on the subject, protesting against a continuance of the practice. The result is that the fishing has been discontinued and the pickets withdrawn to a considerable distance from either shore of the river. This also breaks up the friendly visits of the pickets to one another, their swimming over, exchanging papers, &c.

A Successful Expedition—Contraband Traders Seized.

From Our Own Correspondent.

STONEMAN'S STATION, Va., Monday, May 25, 1863.

Last week information was received, I need not say how, that a number of contraband traders would probably make an endeavor to run the blockade from Urbana, on the south side of the Lower Rappahannock, across the neck to the Potomac, and thence into Maryland.

One company of the Third Indiana cavalry was accordingly dispatched by steamer from Aquia Creek down the Potomac, to a point near its mouth, where they landed, and then marched across the neck to a point opposite Urbana, where they secreted themselves and awaited developments. It was not long before a schooner put out from Urbana, and made toward the mouth of the river. Our troopers, as many as could, immediately got into two "dug-outs" and pursued. After an exciting chase of ten miles the schooner was overhauled, and all the contrabandists on board were captured. They were twelve in number, fresh from Richmond, and bound to Baltimore and Philadelphia to buy goods.

Our troops then returned to Urbana, and burned the bridge over Urbana Bay, captured several rebel mails, and destroyed ten thousand dollars' worth of whisky. They also took several rebel officers who were there, but made no resistance.

Our men returned to-day, bringing spoils and prisoners with them.

A COLORED REGIMENT.

The Fifty-fourth Massachusetts Regiment in the Field—Review by Gov. Andrew and Staff—The Regiment Embarked for Port Royal.

BOSTON, Thursday, May 28.

One of the most enthusiastic, exciting and demonstrative local military events of the war took place to-day, to commemorate the departure of the Fifty-fourth Massachusetts colored regiment for South Carolina.

The ranks of the regiment were entirely full. The men were dressed in regular United States uniform and were splendidly equipped. They were headed by a full band of colored musicians. The regiment made a magnificent appearance.

After being reviewed on Boston Common by Gov. JOHN A. ANDREW and his Staff, the regiment embarked on the fine new steamer DeMolay, which is to sail immediately.

The march of this splendid regiment through the city was attended by the most enthusiastic cheering, and such vast crowds as lined the streets have seldom before been seen.

The regiment was greeted all along their march with tremendous cheers, and they presented a most soldierly and imposing appearance.

FORGED DRAFTS.—Several forged drafts, signed F. G. ADAMS, of Chicago, and drawn on THOMPSON BROTHERS, of New-York, were detected yesterday, including one for $4,300, received from Washington. Messrs. THOMPSON state that "they have seen $20,000 of the forged drafts thus far, coming from Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington." They suppose the rogues are now at work elsewhere.

THE REBEL PIRATES.

The Alabama and Florida Again at Work.

Extensive Depredations Upon Our Commerce on the South American Coast.

Capture and Destruction of the Ships Oneida, Louisa Hatch, Nora, Chas. Hill, Commonwealth, Barks Henrietta and Lafayette, Brig Kate Cory, and Schr. Kingfisher.

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, May 28.

The brig Wm. M. Dodge, from Pernambuco on the 3d inst., has arrived here.

Capt. POTTER, of the ship Oneida, is a passenger, and reports that the Oneida was destroyed by the Alabama.

From Capt. POTTER we learn that the Oneida was bound from Shanghae for New-York, and was captured and destroyed by the Alabama on the 29th ult., in lat. 1° 40' south, long. 29° west.

At the same time he saw on fire the bark Henrietta, from Baltimore for Rio Janeiro, likewise the work of the Alabama.

Capt. POTTER ascertained that, a few days prior to his capture, the Alabama had, in company with the Florida, captured and destroyed the following vessels:

Ship Louisa Hatch, Capt. GRANT, from Cardiff for Singapore.

Ship Nora, Capt. ADAMS, from Liverpool, Feb. 14, for Calcutta.

Ship Charles Hill, Capt. PERCIVAL, from Liverpool for Montevideo.

In addition to these, they had jointly captured and destroyed the following whalers:

Bark Lafayette, of New-Bedford, Capt. LEWIS.

Brig Kate Cory, of Westport, Capt. FLANDERS.

Schooner King Fisher, of Fair Haven.

Three of the ill-fated vessels are registered as follows:

Ship Louisa Hatch, 853 tons burden, rated A 1½, built at Rockland in 1855, where she was owned.

Ship Nora, 925 tons burden, rated A 1, built and owned in Bangor in 1862.

Ship Charles Hill, 699 tons burden, rated A 2, built and owned in Newburyport in 1849.

[By Telegraph to the Merchants' Exchange, Nos. 50 and 52 Pine-street, New-York.

The ship Commonwealth, of Boston, Capt. MCLELLAN, from New-York, March 19, for San Francisco, was captured by the Alabama previous to the 24th ultimo.

The correspondent of the Merchants' Exchange and Newsroom, writing from Pernambuco under date of May 3, designates separately the captors of the doomed vessels.

The Oneida and Henrietta were taken by the Florida, and their crews transferred to the French bark Bremantie, which vessel landed them at Pernambuco on the 1st instant.

Previous to the 26th ult., the Brazilian schooner Sergifrons, from the Island of Fernando de Noronha, a Brazilian penal colony, arrived at Pernambuco, bringing about sixty men, the crews of the other vessels, who had been deposited on the island by the Alabama, to whom, it appears, the credit is due for the capture of them all.

The value of the Commonwealth, with her cargo, is estimated at $400,000; that of the Oneida at fully half a million.

The majority of the officers of the captured vessels departed for the United States by the way of England.

THE SHIP CHARLES HILL.

BOSTON, Thursday, May 28.

The ship Charles Hill, destroyed by the Alabama, had salt in her hold, and an assorted cargo between decks. There was no insurance on the ship, as her owners considered that her having an English cargo would protect her.

THE DESTROYED VESSELS.

The Express gives the following account of the destroyed vessels:

"The ship Oncida was a vessel of 600 tons, built in 1852, in New-Bedford, and owned by Mr. F. HATHAWAY, of South-street. She left Shanghai for this port on the 26th of January, with a cargo of 9,000 packages of tea, valued at $375,000, while the vessel is valued at $25,000.

Ship Chas. Hill, from Liverpool for Montevideo, was an old vessel owned by CHAS. HILL, of Boston. She had, however, a pretty valuable cargo on board, supposed to be worth $50.000.

Bark Lafayette, LEWIS, was a whaler owned by J. H. BARTLETT, of New-Bedford. She left New-Bedford for a cruise on the Atlantic in May, 1862, and was last heard from in March 23 last, in lat. 30° 24' south, and lon. 23° 25' west, with 170 bbls. sperm oil on board. The oil is worth $8,000.

The ship Nora, Capt. ADAMS, is a new, A 1 vessel, of 925 tons, built last Fall in Bangor, and owned by G. B. UPTON, of Boston, and valued at $80,000. Her cargo, from Liverpool for Calcutta, is worth some $50,000.

Ship Louisa Hatch, from Cardiff for Singapore was an A 1½ vessel, of 863 tons, built in 1855, in Rockland, Me., and owned by W. MCCLURE, of that place. She was valued at $50,000, and her cargo of ivory and coal at $80.000.

Bark Henrietta, from Baltimore for Rio Janeiro, was an A 1 vessel of 437 tons, built in 1856, and owned by T. WHITRIDGE, of Baltimore. Her cargo is valued at $25,000.

Brig Kate Cory, FLANDERS, of Westport, was a whaler, of 132 tons, controlled by A. H. CORY. She left on June 26, 1862, for the Atlantic, and was last heard from on March 23, in lat. 34° 24' south, and lon. 43° 45' west, with 155 barrels sperm oil on board, valued at $7,000.

Schooner King Fisher, LAMBERT, of Fairhaven, was a whaler of 120 tons, controlled by C. H. TRIPP. She left for the Atlantic July 30, 1861, and was last heard from on March 9, 1863, at Ascension, having 170 barrels sperm oil and 10 barrels whale oil on board, valued at $8,000.

All the vessels and cargoes, with the exception of the whalers and the Hill, are insured against the war risk.

From Greytown, Nicaragua.

The steamship America, Capt. JEFF. MAURY, from the above port arrived yesterday, bringing 135 cabin and 280 steerage passengers. The difficulty between the Nicaraguan Government and the steamship Company has been amicably settled.

The Purser of the ship will please accept our thanks for favors.

The America Outward Bound.

BOSTON, Thursday, May 28.

The steamship America for Liverpool, via Halifax, will call off Cape Race, the weather permitting.

The America is due off Cape Race about 12 o'clock on Saturday night. Dispatches left at the Commercial Telegraphic Agency of Mr. GEORGE STOKES, No 140 Broadway, New-York, up to 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, will be promptly forwarded.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, May 28.

THE RICHMOND PAPERS.

The Richmond papers of Tuesday, the 26th instant, contain not a line from Vicksburgh, save reproductions of Monday's reports.

THE THREATENED REBEL INVASION.

The Secretary of War complains of the recent panic-stricken stories about a heavy rebel invading column moving on Pennsylvania, and says there has been no time since the beginning of the war when the rebellion was really so weak.

A reconnoitering force sent out by Gen. MILROY at Winchester, arrived at Fairfax this evening. They came in vid Aldie's Gap, and report no rebels visible in the country traversed. Great destitution prevails among the residents of that part of Virginia. There is very little land under cultivation this season.

NEWS FROM GEN. FOSTER.

News has been received at headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, that Gen. FOSTER has recently made an advance in North Carolina, surprised a rebel camp and captured 100 prisoners.

RECRUITING FOR THE INVALID CORPS.

Col. FRY has issued a circular directing the Acting Assistant Provost-Marshal-General of each State to at once open in the immediate vicinity of his headquarters a recruiting rendezvous for the Invalid corps, and also to establish, under command of competent officers, a camp of rendezvous for the Invalid corps in his State. Provisions shall be made at this camp for the reception and accommodation of such soldiers as may be transferred to the corps from the hospitals, &c., as well as of such men as may be sent to it for enlistment from the various Districts of the State, who, after reporting to the commanding officer of the camp, and presenting their certificates from the Board of Enrollment by which they were sent, will be examined by a recruiting officer, and if deemed suitable for service in the Invalid corps will be enlisted. If rejected, transportation to the headquarters whence they came will be furnished at Government expense. Estimates for camps of rendezvous in the respective States are made by companies, as follows: Maine, 4 companies; New-Hampshire, 4; Vermont, 4: Massachusetts, 10; Rhode Island, 3; Connecticut, 5; New-York, each Assistant Provost-Marshal General, 10; New-Jersey, 8; Pennsylvania, 15; Delaware, 2; Maryland, 8; Kentucky, 6; Ohio, 15; Michigan, 6; Indiana, 10; Illinois, 10; Missouri, 8; Iowa, 8; Wisconsin, 8; Minnesota, 5; Kansas, 2; District of Columbia, 10. The companies will be uniformed, armed and equipped at the camps of rendezvous as soon as organized, and sent to such stations as may be designated by the Provost-Marshal-General,

PRESENTATION OF MEDALS.

The soldiers in Gen. BIRNEY'S division specially distinguished for bravery in battle were yesterday presented with medals of honor, and the presentation was made the occasion for interesting and impressive ceremonies, a speech from Gen. SICKLES, etc. Ten or a dozen in each regiment received these medals.

COLOR PRESENTATION.

A stand of colors, the gift of the Common Council of New-York, was yesterday presented to the Thirty-eighth New-York regiment, by the Division Commander.

INCREASE OF POPULATION.

The population of Washington was largely increased, yesterday, by the arrival from the Rappahannock of a boat-load of contrabands, including some of all ages, sexes and conditions. A wagon-load of the "piccaninnies"—twenty or more—passed up Pennsylvania-avenue, their wooly heads bare, and faces wreathed in smiles at the attention they received and novelty of their situation. All these "people," not otherwise disposed of, will be turned over to the new Government Agricultural Department recently established just outside of the City, where their experience as tillers of the soil can be made available.

Provost-Marshal Gen. PATRICK also forwarded to this city, from the Army of the Potomac, a squad of rebel soldiers recently captured.

ELECTIONS IN EASTERN VIRGINIA.

The Congressional elections in Eastern Virginia to-day passed off very quietly. There are no returns yet.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, May 28.

CONTRABANDS PUT TO WORK.

All the male contrabands in the neighboring city of Alexandria have been put to work on intrenchments in that neighborhood. The Provost-Marshal has had a lively time in impressing them. Sunday was a busy day for that business.

ALARM ABOUT REBEL CAVALRY.

Great alarm was caused by a report that STUART'S rebel cavalry intended to make a raid into Alexandria. MOSBY is at Catlett's Station. Gen. HEINTZELMAN and Staff on Monday visited and inspected the fortifications.

SKIRMISHING NEAR BULL RUN.

Our pickets were attacked yesterday somewhere in the vicinity of Bull Run and one of them killed. The enemy were chased ten miles and some of them were killed and wounded in the skirmishes.

It is supposed there are no rebels in force from Warrenton down to Aquia Creek, as we hold the intervening country and all along the Rappahannock.

There may be predatory or guerrilla bands in the valley, but not in large numbers.

A POWERFUL GUN.

Experiments in gunnery have been in progress for several months at the Washington Navy-yard. The most powerful gun tested recently, is that of Mr. ARMSTRONG, of Chicago. It is a rifled 84-pounder, and threw a Hotchkiss shell 1,900 yards, the degree of elevation being 3° 25'. At 5° the shot made the astonishing flight of 2,800 yards, which is 900 yards further than the Armstrong guns can accomplish with the same degree of elevation. The additional velocity is acquired by the application of a principle which relieves the ball of atmospheric pressure in front.

TO BE PROMOTED.

Capt. STEPHEN H. WEED is to be made a Brigadier-General, for his services in the battle of the "Wilderness." Though only a Captain, he commanded sixty pieces of artillery on that occasion. He is considered one of the very best officers in the army.

NEWS FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Reports from North Carolina in the Richmond Papers.

The Rebels Carrying Out the Law of Retaliation.

FORTRESS MONROE, Thursday, May 27.

The steamer Georgia, under flag of truce, arrived this morning from City Point. She brings Richmond papers of the 26th. They contain nothing from Vicksburgh. The Georgia left this afternoon for City Point with 165 rebel prisoners.

The steamship S. R. Spaulding left last night for Boston with the Sixth Massachusetts regiment, their time having expired.

The steamers Kennebec, from Baltimore, and the Henry Burden, from New-York, arrived this morning.

REBEL NEWS FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 26th has the following:

GOLDSBORO, Monday, May 25.

A number of Abolition prisoners arrived here this evening from Kinston, seven being the Captain and crew of the schooner Seabird, captured last Thursday, twenty miles below Wilkinson's Point, on the Neuse, and forty below Newbern, by six men of Capt. BARRINGTON'S company of MITFORD'S battalion. The schooner and her Government cargo were burned.

RALEIGH, Monday, May 25.

The Raleigh Progress' Kinston correspondent, under date of yesterday, says that 3,000 Yankees attacked our force, consisting of three regiments, at Gum Swamp, surprised and routed them. We had several wounded and from 50 to 100 taken prisoners. We took eight prisoners. Gen. HILL forced the enemy back to within eight miles of Newbern. The Colonel commanding the Yankees is reported to be killed. The enemy burnt the Court-house and other buildings at Trenton, Jones County, Friday, and plundered the citizens as they went.

RETALIATION.

"Dr. WM. W. MEYERS, Assistant Surgeon, U. S. A. now confined in Libby Prison, is held as a hostage for Dr. GREEN, of Pittsylvania, who is in Fort Norfolk, as a hostage for the infamous traitor Dr. RUHRE, whose trial is now pending before the County Court of Botetourt. For two officers recently murdered, officially, in Ohio, two officers of equal rank, now in our hands, are to suffer through the operation of the lex talionis. This intelligence has been conveyed to Col. LUDLOW, the Yankee Commissioner, by Commissioner OULD, with the additional assurance that hereafter for all Confederate soldiers or citizens improperly held or executed, the law of retaliation will be rigidly enforced."

Major-Gen. E. C. ORD leaves this afternoon for Baltimore en route for the Mississippi.

A woman, named Miss HOGUER, was arrested at Suffolk yesterday. A document containing a plan of all the fortifications at Suffolk was found in her possession, and letters to Gen. LONGSTREET, stating that he could make a raid to Norfolk and capture Gen. VIELE and Gov. PIERPONT. The documents were prepared by an attorney at Norfolk by the name of STRIBS. He is under arrest.

DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Naval Operations in Albemarle Sound and its Tributaries.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, May 28.

The following report from Admiral LEE was received at the Navy Department to-day:

UNITED STATES FLAGSHIP MINNESOTA,
OFF NEWPORT'S NEWS, Va., May 27, 1863.

SIR: A report from Lieutenant-Commander FLUSSER, dated May 6, has information of recent naval operations in Albemarle Sound and its tributary streams.

Acting Volunteer Lieut. FRENCH, who was sent with the Whitehall to cruise about the eastern end of the Sound to break up the contraband trade there, under date of the 5th inst. reported to Lieutenant-Commander FLUSSER that on the 26th ult. he captured a large two-masted boat, without deck, containing some 500 pounds of tobacco, salted and owned by a Mr. SAWNER, of Edenton, who acknowledged himself a rebel. He was bound to Nag's Head after goods.

In the Alligator River he reports that he captured or destroyed several boats which were engaged in illicit traffic, and seized on those in different places, pork, bacon, leather, tobacco, bagging, lard and tallow belonging to persons directly engaged in supplying the rebels, as proved by perfectly reliable men. Their houses are said to be used as depots for rebel supplies.

The Valley City was sent up the Chowan River, on the 4th inst. Her Commander reports the capture or destruction of several boats, the dispersion of rebel pickets and capture of their arms. He ascended as far as the State line. On his return he sent Acting Ensign L. CULLATIN on shore with an armed boat's crew, and burned the grist mill of J. B. HARE, which, he learned from papers found on the premises, was grinding corn for the rebel cavalry.

While proceeding down the river, the rebels opened fire on the Valley City. Acting Ensign CULLATIN, received a serious, though not fatal, wound through the groin by a rifle ball.

The Valley City replied promptly with musketry, shell, grape and canister, and killed and wounded, it is supposed, a number of the rebels.

Lieut.-Commander FLUSSER reports that lately, when at Hartford, on the Perquimans River, the rebels were gathering in provisions for their army at Suffolk. He landed at Hyman's Ferry, on the Roanoke River, with soldiers and sailors, and captured a cavalry picket of four men, with their arms; in which affair Mr. BENSON, of the Commodore Perry, was severely, though not dangerously, wounded, by a rifle ball through the right shoulder.

AFFAIRS IN FRANCE.

The Reports from Mexico—Official Details from Gen. Forey—The Attitude of the Emperor Toward our Government.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Friday, May 15, 1863.

The official paper is filled this morning with the diary of Gen. FOREY on the operations against Puebla. The diary is addressed to the Emperor, and brings down the operations to the taking of the Fort St. Xavier, the penitentiary, the convent and the cathedral, leaving a part of the town and two important forts still occupied by the Mexican troops. There is an intimation at the end of the report that the ammunition of the French troops was nearly exhausted, so that the Moniteur, in a note on the subject, is obliged to assure its readers that enough ammunition is on the way from Vera Cruz to Puebla, and from Martinique to Vera Cruz, to insure the safe continuance of the operations. The General, who expects very naturally to win the rank of Marshal, and the title of Count of Puebla, pays a high compliment to the address and the courage of the Mexican soldiery, and thereby enhances his own merit the more. He closes with the following observation, which is certainly curious, and which shows still further how warlike a people he had to contend with: "Your Majesty will scarcely believe it, but as we penetrated street after street in Puebla, through the blood and smoke of the combat, we found each house occupied by its ordinary tenants, and on expressing our surprise, they replied that they were used to it!"

We have every reason to believe that the French Government, in case the proper explanation is made at Washington in regard to Mr. ADAMS' Matamoras passport, is going to carry out to the letter the strict neutrality she has thus far maintained in the American question. The French Government was deeply incensed at the letter of Mr. ADAMS, and had determined that if we rendered aid to the Mexicans, that they in turn would render aid in the same way to our enemies. You already know how instantaneously and in good faith the French Government acted in its preparations to prevent any breach of neutrality in the case of the privateer Japan; the French Minister of Foreign Affairs contends that since the breaking out of the war they have always acted in the same good faith toward the Federal Government. Thus, in the start, the South was granted belligerent rights, because it was supposed that there would be an exterior as well as an interior war—that is to say, a naval as well as a land war; and that to grant belligerent rights to both parties was the only way to avoid exterior collisions of difficult adjustment. The rebels in Poland would long ago have been granted belligerent rights, both by France and England, if it were not absolutely an interior war, without any possibility of exterior collisions. To withdraw from the Southern States at this time, or at any time before the end of the war, the right of belligerents, would seem like taking sides against them, and could have no material influence, one way or the other, on the duration of the war. For these reasons the French Government refuses to withdraw the right granted, and contends that this conduct on its part does not invalidate its position of neutrality. So also in the matter of the two attempts at mediation, the French Minister contends that because these offers were made as friendly acts to the whole people of the United States, and with no other motive than a sincere desire to see an end to the effusion of blood and the derangement of commerce, that, therefore, the Government of Washington ought not to find in them any deviation from the neutrality policy of the French Cabinet. All of which will be true, if M. DROUYN DE LHUYS will only admit that his first dispatch on the subject of mediation did not mean what it said, or that it was written in ignorance of the merits of the question.

After many hesitations and much torture of mind, M. THIERS has finally decided to stand as a candidate for Deputy to the incoming Chamber. The decision was not made till yesterday, after the opposition papers had published their complete list for Paris, with the name of Prof. LABOULAYE in the place which had been offered to M. THIERS, and which he had once accepted, and afterward refused, that is to say, the Second District. But, as candidates in France may run as in England in districts in which they do not reside, or in several at once, so M. THIERS, having once consented to the use of his name, will also be run as the opposition candidate at Valenciennes and at Aix, in Savoy. Prof. LABOULAYE, being a political and personal friend of M. THIERS, at once withdrew his name from the Second District, and, if his name is not used at the first election in some other district, it will be offered at the subsequent election in one of M. THIERS' Districts, if the latter should receive a double election. There is reason to believe that M. THIERS only accepted because it was urged by leading men of his own as well as of the Democratic party, that his candidacy would awaken additional interest not only in the election, but in the general affairs of the country and thus drive the Government into the parliamentary régime. The supporters of M. THIERS thus profess not to desire the overthrow of the BONAPARTES, but only to aid in the "crowning of the edifice of liberty" under the Empire, and yet every one must feel, that whatever success attends the political acts of the party of which M. THIERS is the chief, must carry the country along toward the restoration of the Orleans family to the throne.

So much has it become the fashion in feminine high life at Paris to consult "the American Surgeon," Dr. SIMS, of the New-York Woman's Hospital, that the Doctor has at length been called to the Tuileries to consult in regard to the health of the Empress. Her Majesty's health, without being seriously compromised, is not all that could be desired.

The international postal treaty is taking a wider extension than was at first anticipated, both in regard to the number of States represented and the system of equalization to be adopted. I understand that the American agent, Mr. KASSON, is highly gratified at the accommodating disposition manifested by the delegates, and at the progress made thus far.

We have now "within our walls"—that is to say, at Paris—Messrs. JUDD, BLATCHFORD, FOGG and SANFORD, American Ministers in Europe.

MALAKOFF.

Printing Paper from Europe.

From the Pittsburgh Gazette.

The NEW-YORK TIMES has taken the bull of combination by the horns, and shown the paper-makers that, however they may combine, they cannot succeed in keeping up the prices of paper beyond a certain point—a point, indeed, far too high on the scale, but far below that to which the grasping monopoly of the paper-makers' combination tried to reach.

The paper upon which the TIMES is printed is good—about the color of this paper—has a good body, smooth surface, takes a good impression, and would stand as much wear as ordinary news paper.

From the Roxbury Journal.

The New-York TIMES comes to us printed on paper imported from Belgium. The TIMES is usually the best printed of the New-York dailies, and never looked better than it does now. There is a fineness of texture, combined with a purity of color, in this imported paper which makes it particularly desirable. The TIMES is entitled to the thanks of the entire community for its enterprise in this matter. We have little doubt that it has had an important agency in protecting us all against the combination to extort money, on the part of the paper-dealers, with which we were threatened.

By Alderman Jeremiah—

Resolved, That permission be and hereby is given to Matty G. Lane to display goods in front of his premises, number seventy-six Fourth-avenue, to an extent not beyond the stoop line, during the pleasure of the Common Council.

Which was adopted.

By Alderman Farley—

Whereas, His Honor the Mayor, by a communication dated May twenty-five, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, recommends the appointment of delegates to represent the municipal authorities of this City at the Convention to be held at Chicago on the first Tuesday of June next, to consider the matter of increasing the facilities for intercourse between the Valley of the Mississippi and the Atlantic, through the enlarging of the capacity of the canals, and concurring in the sentiments therein expressed as to the importance of the business to be considered by that Convention, not only to the country at large, but especially to the City of New-York;

Resolved, That there be appointed a delegation of six citizens, three to be named by the President of each Board of this Common Council, to attend the above-named Convention, as representatives of the municipal authorities of this City.

Alderman Hardy offered the following substitute for the above resolution:

Resolved, That the Mayor of the City, and four members of each branch of the Common Council, to be named by the President of each Board, be appointed a delegation to attend the above-named Convention, as representatives of the municipal authorities of the City, which substitute was accepted by Alderman Farley. The preamble and substituted resolution were then adopted.

By Alderman Boole—

Whereas, The erection of the new County Court-house in the Park will, from its greater elevation, entirely obscure the rear of the present City Hall building; and,

Whereas, The question of the erection of a new City Hall—although the necessity therefor is daily becoming more and more apparent—seems to be entirely ignored, or totally abandoned; and, in all probability, twenty years or more will elapse ere the City will be in a condition pecuniarily to embark in an undertaking of such magnitude, in the meantime incurring a large annual expenditure for rents for offices to be used by the Heads of Departments and other officers of the City Government: therefore, be it

Resolved, That a Special Committee of —— be appointed to inquire into and report upon the practicability of raising the present City Hall building to a height to correspond with the new County Court-house, now in course of erection in the Park, thereby supplying the necessary rooms for the accommodation of the several heads of Departments of the City Government, affording much greater facility for the transaction of the business of the public with the Corporation, and at the same time resulting advantageously, in a pecuniary point of view, to the City, in the saving to the Treasury of the large amount now annually paid for offices for the several Heads of Departments of the City Government.

Which was laid over.

By Alderman Ottiwell—

Resolved, That permission be and is hereby given to Thomas Taylor to keep a refreshment stand on the south side of Fifty-ninth-street, east of Sixth-avenue, the same to remain during the pleasure of the Common Council.

Which was adopted.

By Alderman Henry—

Resolved, That permission be and is hereby given to Michael Kiernan to place a watering trough in front of his premises, on the southwest corner of Eleventh-avenue and Thirty-seventh-street.

Which was adopted.

By the same—

Resolved, That permission be and hereby is given to John Holzderber to erect iron awning-posts in front of his premises, numbers three hundred and sixty-four and three hundred and sixty-six Eighth-avenue.

Which was adopted.

By Alderman Hardy—

Resolved, That Thirty-first-street, between the Eighth and Ninth avenues, be paved with Belgian pavement, one-half the expense to be borne by the property owners and the remainder by the City.

Which was referred to Committee on Streets.

By the same—

Resolved, That the vacant lots, numbers two hundred and sixty-nine and two hundred and seventy-one Tenth-avenue, be fenced in forthwith under the direction of the Street Commissioner.

Which was referred to Committee on Public Health.

By the same—

Resolved, That Thirty-fourth-street, from the Fifth-avenue to the North River, be renumbered forthwith under the direction of the Street Commissioner.

Which was adopted.

By Alderman Ottiwell—

Resolved, That permission be and is hereby given to the Third-avenue Savings Bank, to place a portico in front of their banking-house now in progress of erection on the southwest corner of Twenty-sixth-street and Third-avenue, the same to be done under the direction of the Street Commissioner.

Which was adopted.

By Alderman Masterson—

Resolved, That Seventy-ninth-street, between the Tenth-avenue and Broadway, be regulated, graded, curb and gutter stones set, and a space four feet wide flagged through the sidewalks thereof, under the direction of the Street Department.

Which was referred to the Committee on Roads.

By Alderman McCool—

Resolved, That the Street Commissioner be and is hereby authorized to have the cellar of house of Hose Company number thirty-three dug out, at an expense not to exceed two hundred and fifty dollars.

Which was referred to Committee on Fire Department.

By Alderman Ryers—

Resolved, That the Comptroller be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant in favor of Scott and Company for the sum of four thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars, for furnishing dinner to the returned volunteers on May twenty-third and twenty-seventh, the amount to be taken from the account of City contingencies.

Which was laid over.

By Alderman Farley—

Resolved, That a power be constructed in Fifth-avenue commencing at the corner of Eighty-ninth-street and terminating at Seventy-ninth-street, and to connect with the sewer in Seventy-ninth-street.

Which was referred to Committee on Sewers.

By the same—

Resolved, That a sewer, with the necessary receiving basins and culverts, be built in Fifty-ninth-street, from Second-avenue to First-avenue, through First-avenue to Sixtieth-street, to connect with the sewer already ordered in said street.

Which was referred to Committee on Sewers.

Which was laid over.

The Committee on Roads presented a report in favor of concurring with Board of Councilmen, in amending resolution of Board of Aldermen, viz.: "That the Street Commissioner be directed to cause the flagging in One Hundred and Twentieth-street, between First-avenue and Avenue A, to be repaired immediately, and the accompanying ordinance adopted," by adding thereto after the words "immediately" the words "where not already done."

Which was laid over.

The Committee on Roads presented a report in favor of concurring with Board of Councilmen in adopting resolution that sidewalks on the south side of Fifty-first-street, between Second and Third avenues, be flagged a space four feet wide where not already done, under the direction of the Street Commissioner, and that the accompanying ordinance therefor be adopted,

Which was laid over.

The Committee on Roads presented a report in favor of concurring with Board of Councilmen in adopting resolution that the sidewalk of One Hundred and Fourteenth-street, between Third-avenue and Avenue A, be flagged a space four feet wide, and the curb and gutter stones set therein where necessary, under the direction of the Street Commissioner, and the accompanying ordinance therefor adopted.

Which was laid over.

The Committee on Finance presented a report in favor of concurring with Board of Councilmen in adopting resolution that the Comptroller be directed to draw his warrant in favor of Geo. Brown and John O'Brien in the sum of three hundred and twenty-five dollars, the same being in full for loss of horse from pier foot of Seventy-ninth-street, East River, and the consequent damage therefor, and charge the same to its appropriate account.

Which was laid over.

The Committee on Public Health presented a report to fill sunken lots between Fifty-seventh and Sixty-fifth streets, and Fourth and Fifth avenues.

Which was laid over.

The Committee on Public Health presented a report to drain sunken lots on New-avenue and Mount Morris-square, Fifth-avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fourth-street.

Which was laid over.

The Committee on Public Health presented a report to fill low and sunken lots between Fifty-seventh and Sixty-fifth streets, and Lexington and Fourth avenues.

Which was laid over.

The Committee on Roads presented a report in favor of accepting the proposal of S. Van Nostrand, to surrender a portion of Mount Morris-square, and providing for the improvement of the same.

Which was laid over.

Alderman Farley, from the Committee on National Affairs, in compliance with resolution instructing the Committee on National Affairs to report to this Board, presented an ordinance to provide for a continuance of the amount heretofore granted to the families of volunteer soldiers from the City of New-York, serving in the army of the Union.

Which was laid over.

Which was laid over.

The Committee on Sewers presented a report in favor of concurring with the Board of Councilmen in adopting resolution that a sewer, with the necessary receiving basins and culverts, be built in Grand-street, between Cannon and Lewis streets, under the direction of the Croton Aqueduct Board, and the accompanying ordinance therefor be adopted.

Which was laid over.

MOTIONS.

Alderman Farley moved that the Committee on Streets be discharged from the further consideration of preamble reciting that the Croton Aqueduct Department has adopted a new stone of trap-block for pavement for the ensuing year, which will cost more and be of no greater utility than the stone used in one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, with resolution that the Croton Aqueduct Department be directed in framing specifications for trap-block pavement for the ensuing year, to call for stone of similar dimensions to those used in one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two.

Which was carried.

The preamble and resolution were then adopted by the following vote, viz:

Affirmative—Aldermen Fox, Henry, Hall, McCool, Chipp, Mitchell, Ryers, Jeremiah, Masterson, Ottiwell, Farley, Long—13.

Negative—Aldermen Hardy—1.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The President pro tem. here named the following as the Special Committee on the part of the Board of Aldermen, in pursuance of resolution adopted this evening to attend the Convention relative to commercial intercourse with the Great West:

Alderman Farley, Alderman Mitchell,
Alderman Ryers, Alderman Ottiwell.

MESSAGES FROM HIS HONOR THE MAYOR.

A message was received from His Honor the Mayor, asking attention to a call for a National Convention for facilitating commercial intercourse with the Great West.

Which was received and ordered on file.

The following message was received from his Honor the Mayor, returning without approval resolution authorizing the Comptroller to draw his warrant in favor of Dines Carolin, Treasurer of the House of the Good Shepherd, for the sum of five thousand dollars.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
NEW-YORK, May 25, 1863.

To the Honorable the Board of Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN: I return, without my approval, the accompanying resolution authorizing the Comptroller to draw his warrant in favor of Dines Carolin, Treasurer of the House of the Good Shepherd, for the sum of five thousand dollars.

While the object of the benevolent institution abovenamed, as stated in the petition and report attached to the resolution, is in the highest degree commendable, I cannot approve of so large a donation being made to it.

The whole amount authorized by law to be expended by us in donations of every kind during the present year, with the exception of one or two specific appropriations named in the law, is forty thousand dollars. To give so much of this to a single association almost necessarily involves injustice to other equally deserving charitable institutions, some of which will be thereby deprived of as much as they should properly receive from us, and others, also deserving, may be deprived of any assistance whatever.

I would respectfully recommend as a general rule in the distribution of so much of the forty thousand dollars as may be donated to our charitable institutions, that it be distributed as fairly and among as large a number of these institutions as practicable.

GEORGE OPDYKE, Mayor.

Which was received, laid on the table, and directed to be entered at length on the minutes, and published in the papers employed by the Corporation.

COMMUNICATIONS.

BOARD OF COUNCILMEN.

STATED SESSION ...THURSDAY, May 28, 1863.}
Five o'clock P. M.

The Board met, pursuant to adjournment, in their Chamber, number sixteen City Hall.

Present—Morgan Jones, Esq., President, in the Chair, and the following members: Councilmen Hayes, Healy, Sandford, Houghtalin Haviland, Brice—7.

A quorum not being present at roll call, the President declared that the Board stood adjourned until Monday next, June one, at five o'clock P. M.

JAMES M. SWEENEY, Clerk.

CITY INSPECTOR'S DEPARTMENT,
No. 19 CITY HALL SQUARE, CHATHAM-STREET,}
NEW-YORK, May 28, 1863.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

GENTLEMEN:

In compliance with a resolution adopted on the twelfth instant, by the Board of Commissioners of Health, directing the City Inspector to proceed immediately to clean the City, the undersigned has the honor to report that the work has been performed thus far in the most thorough manner, and the City is now in a more cleanly condition than has been the case since the Hackley contract went into effect. The work was commenced on the fifteenth instant, with a force of from seven to eight hundred men, including cartmen. It is estimated that in that brief period of time about fifty thousand loads of stuff, including ashes and street dirt, have been removed, the result exhibiting a contrast between the untrammelled labors of this Department, with the force under its control, and the operations of the late contractor, which exposes the degree of fidelity and efficiency with which that contract was performed.

Whatever obstacles to a thorough clearing of the City may have existed at the start, have been met and surmounted. As the City is now in a condition freed from a long accumulation of filth, there will be no difficulty in future in keeping it so, provided that the existing arrangements of this Department are permitted to go on without interruption or interference. Should any interposition in aid of the present powers of this Department be deemed necessary, it will be promptly asked; but as no such necessity exists at present, it is respectfully suggested that the less its operations are interfered with, the more certainly will the just demands of our citizens for a cleanly condition of the City be realized.

The system of checks and counter-checks which the undersigned has introduced, in lieu of the old ticket system, has proved a complete success, and will result in a large saving to the City in the course of the year, while insuring a greater degree of vigilance on the part of the Dumping-ground Inspectors, and the prevention of the discharge of the carts. Every confidence is felt that under this system the most thorough security will be afforded against any dereliction of duty, and that all parties concerned will be held to an accountability from which there can be no evasion. Other improvements will be introduced of equal importance, insuring economy and efficiency in the work of cleaning the City.

The undersigned would call the attention of your honorable body to the wretched condition of the pavements in a large proportion of the streets in the four lower Wards, and the necessity of their immediate repair. The necessarily large amount of travel through this section of the City is not only impeded from this cause, but injuries sustained and losses to horses and vehicles incurred in consequence of the condition of these most crowded thoroughfares. I call attention more particularly to these Wards, but a similar condition of things exists—though not to so great an extent—in almost every Ward in the City.

The nuisance arising from filthy streets no longer existing, the attention of the Police Sanitary Bureau should be directed to a thorough examination of tenement buildings, with a view to such sanitary improvements as each case may demand. The law has placed that matter almost exclusively under the control of that Bureau. It is but proper to add that the labors of this department, in its efforts to preserve the cleanliness of the City, will be much lightened by the active cooperation of the police in the prompt arrest of parties violating the City ordinances by throwing their filth and garbage into the streets, and the neglect of proper sanitary regulations.

It is with some difficulty that the laboring men on the streets have been induced to continue their work, under the unfounded apprehension that they are to be kept out of their pay by the City, the same as was the case under Hackley. It is within your province promptly to set these apprehensions at rest, and thereby encourage those employed in the most efficient discharge of their duties. It is but an act of justice and charity to these men to state that a majority of them are in absolute want and distress arising from the non-payment of money due by the late contractor, and, in accordance with their general wish, the undersigned has taken the liberty to call your attention to the subject.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
DANIEL E. DELAVAN,
City Inspector.

An Action for Slander and False Imprisonment.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Judge Barbour and a Jury.

Eliza M. Currier vs. Charles Pierson.—This cause has been on trial for two days past and has attracted a great audience as well from the interesting nature of the cause itself as from the distinguished ability of the counsel employed in it. The facts appeared in evidence to be as follows: The plaintiff, who was the wife of Robert B. Currier, a wholesale boot and shoe dealer in this City, in company with her niece, on the 8th day of May, 1861, called at the store of Ubsdell, Pierson & Lake, No. 471 Broadway, in this City, to do a little shopping. After looking at some goods, they went leisurely out of the store into the adjoining one of Beekman & Co. After they had gone out, or while doing so, the clerk who waited on them missed a piece of silk out of the bundle shown to the two ladies. He immediately informed Mr. Pierson that the two ladies on whom he had waited had taken a piece of silk. He was requested by his employer to call them back. He did so, under the suggestion that a mistake had occurred. On their reëntry into the store Mr. Pierson requested them to step up stairs into the private office, on the second floor. On doing so Mr. Pierson stated to them in substance the charge his clerk made against them of having taken the silk and requested them to give it up. Upon this a scene ensued, the evidence about which was somewhat conflicting. Suffice it to say that the plaintiff desired her husband sent for, and gave his name. At first Mr. Pierson did not understand the name, and could not find it in the directory, but afterwards did so. The lady denied emphatically the charge made against her by the clerk, and asked Mr. Pierson to search them. This he declined to do, as not being proper for him, but determined to and did send for two police detectives. Upon arriving, the latter looked at the ladies, and stated they did not know them, and concluded to hear what the clerk had to say on the charge. This was again positively asserted by him, and the officers concluded to search them. After making their search nothing was found on the ladies. At that point of time the defendant claimed by his evidence that he directed the officers to let the ladies go, as he would take no further responsibility in the case; but the officers concluded, as the charge was positively made by the clerk, to take them round to the Police Headquarters, as they might have had an accomplice. On this branch of the case the evidence was conflicting. The ladies were taken to the Police Headquarters. The husband was sent for, and all parties directed to be before Judge KELLY at the Tombs the next morning.

Before going to the Tombs on the next morning some of the plaintiff's relatives called at the defendant's store, and, after considerable talk pro and con, the defendant became convinced that his clerk had made a great mistake, and that the ladies were innocent, and he directed the clerk to withdraw the charge. On this the evidence was a little in conflict. The husband of the lady, however, insisted upon the charge being tried, which was done before the Police Magistrate, and the accusation dismissed. On this all parties returned to the defendant's store, and a scene there ensued, about which the evidence was also conflicting; the defendant claimed that the plaintiff accepted the ample apologies he made to her, and went away, having shaken his hand. This was denied so far as parting cordially and shaking hands. A few weeks afterward the husband came in to the defendant's store, and saw his partner, and asked him what the firm were going to do about it. To this an ample apology was tendered, and an offer to make any redress in their power, and he was asked what he wanted, to which no particular reply was given. The suit was shortly thereafter commenced on two causes of action, claiming $10,000 damages, viz.: for slander, in charging the plaintiff with theft, and for damages for false imprisonment. The case occupied considerable time in developing the foregoing facts, and was pressed with great vehemence by Mr. Brady, of counsel for the plaintiff, and pertinaciously defended by Mr. D. McMahon, of counsel for defendant. Both counsel delivered eloquent addresses on the part of their respective clients' cases, which were listened to by a large audience, composed of suitors, witnesses and members of the Bar.

The Judge charged that both causes of action were made out, and the question was one of damages, which he left to the jury to determine.

After being out five hours, the jury disagreed.

J. T. Brady and S. C. H. Bailey, for plaintiff; D. McMahon, for defence.

THURSDAY, May 28—P. M.

The Street was less disturbed by army rumors to-day, and the price of Gold Coin was fairly steady throughout the day, closing a fraction lower than last night. The rates of Exchange are relatively cheaper than Gold, and some of the Bankers are sellers of the latter to replace the amount with good Merchant bills, of which there is a fair offering. The comparatively large stock of Cotton on this market is being partially relieved by some shipments this week to England. Exchange on London is 157@157½ ₱ cent. for first-class Bankers', and 155½@156½ for Merchant bills. There is rather less demand for Money to-day from the Stock Brokers, and we hear of no complaint of the supply, on good collateral, at 6@7 ₱ cent. Some of the country Banks, and a number of our own private Banking establishments, are still lending on United States Securities at 5 ₱ cent. per annum. The letters from Europe by to-day's mail quote United States 5 ₱ cents of 1874 at 62 ₱ cent. Sterling money, and the 6 ₱ cents of 1881 at 66 ₱ cent. Sterling money, being a further rise of 1@2 ₱ cent. in the London market. The payments into the Treasury to-day on account of the new Loan of 1882 amount to $1,850,000. The subscriptions are now largely in advance of the readiness of the Government to deliver the Bonds. This discrepancy will probably be wider as the time approaches for stopping voluntary conversions at par. Already a good many parties are making their subscriptions in advance, leaving with the Loan Agencies a partial deposit of 5 ₱ cent. to secure the amount applied for.

The course of business at the Stock Exchange, early in the day, manifested less pressure to sell the Railways for cash delivery than on Tuesday or Wednesday. The prices, with one or two exceptions, were about the same as last night, but there was a steadiness of demand on the leading speculatives that pointed to the higher figures which were bid on the Street at 1 o'clock, and also at the Second Board. Withal, however, there was no decided character or buoyancy to the General market, as compared with the speculative excitement of last week and the week before. There were signs, late in the day, of special movements for another rise, as on Harlem, and Cleveland and Pittsburgh, the heavy short interests in which still remain open. The 6 ₱ cents of Missouri and Tennessee are steady, and so, with few exceptions, are the Railway Mortgages. Government Stocks of 1881 are also steady at the recent advance. Treasury Certificates of 1864, which pay interest in currency, are a fraction easier.

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made as compared with Wednesday night, the market leaving off with some show of firmness:

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Up to 1 o'clock this morning no later news, official or otherwise, had been received from Vicksburgh. Our Washington correspondent states that nothing had been received there up to a late hour last night. It begins to be the talk in official circles that the siege may continue a fortnight.

The latest rebel dispatches from the vicinity of Vicksburgh are from Jackson, dated the 24th and 25th. On the 24th the cannonading at Vicksburgh, which had continued up to that time, ceased at 9 o'clock in the morning. No explanation of the cessation of firing is given. An officer is said to have arrived at Jackson, who left Vicksburgh on the Tuesday morning previous. His report is, that Gen. Grant had made four assaults on the rebel works, all of which had been repulsed. Our own reports are later than this of the rebel officer, and are of a different nature. The Richmond Whig, in which we find these dispatches, has an editorial referring to them as encouraging. The rebels evidently count much on Gen. Grant being attacked in the rear by Johnston, who is said to be at Jackson with a rapidly accumulating force.

Deserters from the rebel army in Mississippi, who made their way into our lines after the battle of Raymond, have arrived at Cairo. They were conscripts, and belonged to the Fiftieth Tennessee regiment. They state that there have been at no time more than 10,500 rebel troops at Port Hudson.

Information has been received of the capture and destruction of a large number of Northern vessels by the pirates Atabama and Florida, which seem recently to have been acting in conjunction. A vessel which arrived in Philadelphia yesterday, from Pernambuco, brought Capt. Porter, of the ship Oneida, who reports the capture of his vessel by the Alabama on the 29th ult., in lat. 1° 40' S., lon. 29° W. At the same time he saw on fire the bark Henrietta, of Baltimore; and a few days prior, the Alabama and Florida, in company, had captured and destroyed the ship Louisa Hatch, the ship Nora, the ship Charles Hill, the bark Lafayette, the brig Kate Cory and the schooner Kingfisher. Information has also reached the Merchants' Exchange in this City, that the ship Commonwealth, of Boston, which left New-York on the 19th of March for San Francisco, was captured by the Alabama previous to the 24th ult. Most of the officers of the captured vessels are on their way home by way of England.

The opinion is entertained in some quarters that the rebel army at Fredericksburgh has recently been much reduced—that, in fact, the force in front of our lines is hardly more than a mere shell.

The rebel force in Wayne County, Kentucky, is estimated to number from six to eight thousand, and at last accounts Pegram had his headquarters near Monticello. The intentions of the rebels are as yet simply matter of conjecture, but the opinion is general in the West that they contemplate a bold move of some kind.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 26th announces the determination of the Rebel Government to carry out the law of retaliation to its fullest extent. Dr. Wm. W. Myers, Assistant Surgeon of the United States army, is now in the Libby Prison as a hostage for Dr. Green, of Pittsylvania, held by our Government as a hostage for an alleged traitor to the Rebel Confederacy now on trial for his life before a rebel Court. For two officers recently executed in Ohio, the Enquirer says, two national officers of equal rank now in the hands of the rebels are to suffer death.

There was a brisk skirmish near Baxter Springs, Kansas, on May 18, between a foraging party of forty-seven of our soldiers, twenty-five of whom were negroes, and a force of guerrillas. At last accounts twenty-eight of our men were missing.

The departure of the Fifty-fourth Massachusetts regiment (colored) for the seat of war yesterday, was the occasion of an enthusiastic demonstration by the Bostonians. The regiment embarked for Port Royal. Its ranks are entirely full, and is uniformed in accordance with the regulations. Crowds lined the streets through which it passed, and it was greeted with cheers.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Democratic State Central Committee met at Albany yesterday. A series of resolutions were adopted declaring that the Union shall not be divided, but condemn the placing of military above civil law, and indorse the sentiments of Gov. Seymour's letter to the Albany Vallandigham meeting.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen yesterday, a resolution to refer to a Special Committee the subject of adding another story to the City Hall for the accommodation of the Corporation Departments now occupying outside offices, and to make the building equal the height designed for the new Court-house, was presented, and laid over. A resolution was adopted to appoint the Mayor and four members of each Board of the Common Council to represent the City in the National Convention soon to be held in Chicago, in reference to an enlargement of the canals between the Great West and the Atlantic. Messrs. Farley, Ryers, Mitchell and Ottiwell were appointed the delegates from this Board. The Mayor sent in a veto on the resolution to donate $5,000 to the House of the Good Shepherd, on the ground that the sum named is too liberal, in view of the small amount to be raised this year for donations. A new Family Aid ordinance, to replenish the present Relief Fund, was presented, and laid over. A resolution was adopted, directing the Croton Board to use the old style of Belgian pavement, instead of a new and more expensive style of larger blocks, which they have selected. The ordinance to amend the Annual Appropriation bill so as to make it conform to the alterations made in it by the Legislature, and the resolution to tender the hospitalities of the City to Brig.-Gen. Meagher, were concurred in. The resolution to appropriate $2,000 for the burial of deceased children of soldiers, and limiting the expense to $10 in each case, was amended by making the sum $2,500, and then passed. A communication from the City Inspector, stating that he has been making good progress in cleaning the streets since the 12th instant, was referred, and the whole street-cleaning subject made the special order for the next meeting. Mr. Mitchell said Mr. Donaldson had inadvertently misstated his proposition for the abrogation of the Hackley contract—that instead of the requisitions claimed to be due ($81,000) and a further sum of $145,000, he wanted only $145,000 in all. The Board adjourned to 5 o'clock P. M. on Monday next.

The Board of Councilmen failed of a quorum at their meeting last evening, and adjourned to 5 o'clock P. M. on next Monday. The Hackley contract laborers were on hand in large force, filling the lobbies and hallways. In the other Board they were gratified by an assertion from Alderman Mitchell, that no plan for buying up the contract would be favored that did not make secure provision for their pay.

The rooms of the School of Design for Women, at the Cooper Institute, were thrown open last evening for the fourth annual exhibition, and a large number of visitors availed themselves of the opportunity to look at the productions of the pupils. Probably not less than 500 pictures were shown, scarcely one of which might not be pronounced creditable, while not a few of the subjects merit the highest praise for originality of conception, poetry of sentiment and painstaking fidelity of execution.

Christian S. Leech, James T. Rumford, Zebulon S. Rankin, John A. Rankin, James A. Scudder, James B. Bennett, William Vawter and George Laws, for "aiding and abetting those in arms against the United States Government," have been sentenced by Gen. Burnside to be confined at Johnson's Island, depot of prisoners of war, at hard labor during the war.

A decree of condemnation of the prize steamer St. John and cargo for breach of blockade and as enemy's property, was made in the United States District Court in Boston, on Tuesday, after evidence in the case had been heard. The St. John was captured in Bull's Bay, near Charleston, April 8, and is worth about $25,000. She arrived in Boston April 30, and was libeled May 1. The vessel and cargo are ordered to be sold on Saturday, June 6.

Some anonymous friend has generously presented the sum of $15,000 to the Auburn, N. Y., Theological Seminary, to increase its scholarship funds.

The examination of the colored sailor, Chas. Campbell, on a charge of killing the mate of the ship Washington, closed before United States Commissioner Osborne yesterday. Campbell was committed for trial.

The Grand Jury in the United States Circuit Court yesterday, found five indictments against Solomon Kohnstamm, a wealthy German contractor of this City, for swindling the Government through false claims. The total amount of his swindling operations, it is said, will exceed $150,000. He is among the chief of the Government swindlers, exposed through the investigations of Commissioner Olcott, and the evidence of his guilt is abundant and conclusive.

The price of Gold Coin was steady yesterday at about 143¾ ₱ cent. Exchange 157@157½. Money easier to the Stock Brokers at 6@7 ₱ cent. Government Stocks in demand. The sales of the New Loan, for to-day, amount to $1,850,500. The General Stock Market improved over Wednesday's prices.

A fair business was transacted in Breadstuffs yesterday. Flour was irregular in price; Wheat and Corn were dearer. Pork was heavy and cheaper. Lard, Butter and Cheese were active and buoyant. Beef, Lumber, Teas and Whisky were in good request. Cotton was moderately inquired for, and was a shade higher. Tallow was heavy and drooping. Groceries were quiet. Ocean Freights were depressed. No important changes transpired in other articles.

The State Loyal Mass Meeting.

The mass meeting at Utica, on Wednesday, was a decided success. It was very large, very enthusiastic, and distinguished by the entire absence of party feeling and the paramount determination to sustain the Government in its efforts to quell the rebellion and preserve the Union. A large portion of those in attendance were Democrats, brought thither probably, at least in part, by the expectation of hearing Mr. Brady or Mr. Van Buren, whose participation had been promised:—but in no instance was the slightest inclination evinced to give party feeling any prominence, or to make party interest the leading motive of effort and of action. Hon. Henry A. Foster, who presided, has always been a Democrat, but, like Judge Denio and others who sent letters to the meeting, declared that in such a crisis he knew no party and would suffer no political prejudices or preferences to interfere with the duty which he owed his country as a citizen and a patriot. The resolutions, which were adopted unanimously and with the most hearty applause, expressed the same sentiments and evinced the same purpose. They were explicit in repudiating all party interests, in postponing all political differences until the supremacy of the Constitution is reëstablished, in pledging full and complete obedience to all laws so long as they remain upon the statute book, appealing for the redress of wrongs and the establishment of political preferences to the judicial tribunals and to the ballot-box, and in repelling all thought of any peace which shall involve the disruption of the Union or the recognition of the right of secession. This seemed to be universally regarded as a platform upon which all loyal citizens could rally, whatever might be their differences as to men and measures,—and at the same time distinct enough and strong enough in its assertion of principle to carry the country through the war.

We trust the action of this Mass Assemblage will have a good effect in stimulating and consolidating the loyal sentiment of this State. Strenuous efforts are making by party demagogues to divert public attention from the great question at issue, and to fasten it upon minor and secondary matters. Gov. Seymour is just now taking the lead in this seditious and unpatriotic work. He is endeavoring to arouse the passions of the people against the National Government, by utterly false accusations, and by charges which he himself can scarcely believe to be well founded. He has asserted, as clearly and distinctly as he could, that this war is waged not to "put down rebellion at the South," but to "destroy free institutions at the North." If Gov. Seymour believes in his heart that this assertion is true, a lunatic asylum would be a much more fitting place for him than the Executive Chamber. He knows it is not true. He knows that the object of the war—the only object for which it is waged—is to put down the rebellion and restore the Union. He may possibly think honestly enough that the extinction of Slavery is also one of the results at which it aims. But he does not believe,—nor does he for one moment suspect that it is waged to "destroy free institutions at the North,"—that this is any part of the purpose of the Administration, that either the President or any member of his Cabinet, or Congress or any member of either branch of it, advocates or contemplates the prosecution of the war for such an object, or that any party in the country would sustain them for a single moment if they did. Gov. Seymour's assertion on this point is either a mere rhetorical flourish or a shameless and unprincipled attempt to impose upon the credulity of the Democratic party. In either case it is utterly unworthy of his position and character. We presume that, in point of fact, it is a reckless bid for the support of those whom it is feared Fernando Wood may draw over to the Peace party which he is about to organize.

If we may judge from the temper and tone of the mass meeting at Utica, the great body of the people of this State will scorn all such attempts to impose upon their common sense or to use their party relations for the destruction of the country. Whatever may be their opinion as to the wisdom of arrests in time of war by military authority in cases which the civil power cannot reach, they will not regard Mr. Vallandigham's comfort or rights as of more importance than the salvation of the country. They would rather that he, or any other man, should suffer wrongfully than that the rebellion should triumph and the Union perish. They know that these instances are exceptional—that they are incident to a state of war,—that they are thought by the Government to be necessary (whether they are or not) to the maintenance of rightful authority, and to the successful prosecution of the contest. And, if they cannot approve them, they will at least abstain from making them the pretext for aiding the rebels in destroying the Government. There was nothing in which the Utica meeting was more unanimous or more enthusiastic than in branding, as utterly false and unpatriotic, this attempt of Gov. Seymour to falsify the conduct and the motives of the Government, and to elevate the case of Vallandigham above the cause of the country.

Curses Coming Home to Roost.

Considering the length of time which Copperhead politicians managed to look on, if not with satisfaction, at least with contentment and in silence, at the practical suspension of the habeas corpus throughout the entire South before this war broke out; considering the placid approval or indulgence with which they witnessed, for nearly forty years, the nullification by every one of the Slave States of that essential and vital clause of the Constitution which guarantees to every citizen of the United States freedom of speech and trial by jury all over the Union; considering the eagerness with which they supported those provisions of the Fugitive Slave act which shamefully set aside the time-honored presumption of the common law, that every man is free till the contrary is proved, and imposed on the people of the Northern States the humiliation of seeing persons who might be their fellow-citizens carried into life-long bondage on the dictum, not even of a Court, but of a Commissioner—we cannot, for the life of us, much as we value forms, and much as we respect honest human lamentations, help taking a little dismal pleasure in the sight of their present griefs. When we remember that when Slavery daily and hourly either trampled our laws under foot or wrested them for the confusion or destruction of liberty, and for the deification of brute force, these men deprecated all protest and all indignation, we have no bowels of compassion for them, in their present affliction. Seeing how much violence and illegality they could endure for the benefit of Slavery, we know that they can endure very much more than they have yet encountered for the benefit of freedom. They are shocked by Judge Leavitt's refusal of a habeas corpus to Vallandigham—they, who thought it no shame that a Washington Judge should simply fine Brooks $300 for beating in the skull of a United States Senator in the Senate Chamber itself. They are horrified that a man may not in the North say his say in favor of peace—they who applauded for long years the system which forbade any man to say, in two-thirds of the Southern States, one word against Slavery, and who voted with the men who upheld this system as the highest political good. When Northern men, or non-slaveholders, were tarred and feathered and robbed every month, not by the sentence even of courts-martial, but by the wild will of ruffianly mobs, the voices that are now so eloquent on behalf of law and order, did nothing but shout approval. Not one note of protest or of warning ever came from them; not one syllable did they ever utter, to admonish the nation of the demoralization which familiarity with such unchecked wickedness and illegality was sure in the long run to work. It is awful, now, forsooth, that men may not preach against war, under the protection of the Constitution; but it was simple and natural, that under that same Constitution no man dared say a word against either the morality or economy of treating the whole laboring population of one-half the Union as beasts of the field.

They are much troubled, just now, that their labors in defence of Constitutional forms, their invectives against arbitrary arrests and martial law, do not meet with a better response from the public, and do not produce much effect on the Government, and they want to know the reason why. We can tell them. It is because their zeal is new born. People naturally doubt the sincerity of defenders and expounders of the Constitution who, until it began to be strained on behalf of freedom, saw it set aside without a word of remonstrance. People cannot forget, if they would, that the saints who are now on the battlements, fighting vigorously in defence of it, managed to look on in silence during the reigns of Buchanan and Pierce, when every law on the statute book, and every provision of the Constitution, which interfered with the spread or maintenance of Slavery, were openly and shamefully disregarded. And there is not an honest man at the North who must not feel disgusted by the impudence which professes to see in the events of to-day proofs of the "decadence of the Republic," and which, nevertheless, in the days of the Toombses and Wigfalls, saw nothing to be feared or regretted save the speeches of the Abolitionists—in a state of things which converted this nation into the one apostle and defender of human bondage, to be found in the civilized world—which made the very name of American a synonym amongst foreign nations for lawless violence, and which made the friends of freedom all over the earth blush over us as a scandal and disgrace. The best thing that could have been said for us at that day was that we were strong; the better thing may be said for us to-day that we are strong and right. Our violations of law at that day were committed in the service of villainy; they are to-day committed in the service of humanity. We now, it is true, suspend the habeas corpus, but it is that for the future truth, and justice, and freedom may be established on a sure and lasting foundation. We are, thank God, at last risking our liberties—if we are risking them at all—for something better than Southern "property." Whatever we sacrifice either of our law or Constitution is sacrificed for the gratification of a nobler passion than a thirst for "niggers." And if we perish we shall perish with the satisfaction—which, had our end come in the days when Copperhead demagogues held the reins of government, we could not possibly have enjoyed—of knowing that we have not destroyed our Government in the interest of kidnappers and pirates, but in a noble effort to find some better basis for a great nation than base connivance at a great crime.

The Siege of Vicksburgh.

The dispatches concerning affairs at Vicksburgh continue to be as nearly as possible incomprehensible. We have really, as yet, nothing definite from either side beyond our Washington dispatch published on Tuesday, which announced that on Friday of last week, the three corps of Gen. Grant's army had planted themselves on either flank and in the rear of Vicksburgh—the corps averaging about a mile in distance from the Court-house. We know nothing of any very heavy fighting after the battle of Big Black Bridge, twelve days ago, though we have a telegram from Cairo this morning announcing a terrible and bloody assault on Vicksburgh a week ago to-day. If it be so, the War Department must have known of it for some time, as they have been for four days in possession of intelligence from Grant's army up to 9 o'clock on last Friday.

A close comparison of the dates and statements of the rebel and loyal dispatches which we have been picking up and publishing during the week, will show that nearly all the stories of fights in them refer to the series of battles which ended with that of Big Black Bridge. The rebel authorities appear to have held back the news of the disasters they suffered in Grant's advance; and they seem only to be getting it piecemeal now. The fact is, we suppose, that the rebels find more difficulty now to hear from Vicksburgh than we do. Jackson, from which their telegrams are dated, is but forty miles from the besieged stronghold; but the places have no communication with each other, except through such persons as may escape from Vicksburgh. The rebel telegrams are simply the rumors that reach Jackson by one means or another. Now that the people of the North know, and have settled down content in the belief that the "Stars and Stripes" did not wave over Vicksburgh on Sunday last, we think it would be no harm if the Government at Washington would furnish the public with correct statements of the news they have on hand. There ought certainly to be daily communication by steamboat between Porter's fleet and Memphis—from whence the wires extend all over the country.

There are still statements from rebel sources that reinforcements are being hastened forward to Vicksburgh from all points in the South at which there are spare regiments; but Grant's position forbids any fear for him though they should accumulate fifty thousand men to attack him.

The Streets.—The contractor, or sub-contractor, for cleaning the streets of this City, having completely failed in his duty, the City Inspector took the job in hand a fortnight ago, in compliance with a resolution of the Commissioners of Health, directing him to do so. The work was commenced with a force of from seven to eight hundred men, including cartmen; and it is claimed that, in a fortnight, fifty thousand loads of stuff, including ashes and garbage, have been removed from the streets. Having accomplished thus much, the City Inspector now reports that "the nuisance arising from filthy streets no longer exists." We are very grateful to the City Inspector for what he has done, and cheerfully acknowledge that it is not a little; but we suspect it would not be very hard work to get another "fifty thousand loads of stuff" from the streets of New-York. Many of the densely populated streets running north from Canal-street are still in a shocking condition, not to mention many others in other sections of the City. Now that the City Inspector has been authorized to take the work in hand, we hope he will have it properly done, as it is impossible to deceive the people in this matter. The evidence daily presented to four, at least, out of five of their senses, forbids deception. It would be well for the City Inspector to actually inspect the City, as his title implies he will do, and not merely be satisfied with the reports of subordinates. It was bad enough to have dirty streets before, and be forced to pay heavily for their being kept dirty; but under our present duplicated and complicated system, or want of system, of keeping them clean, we ought at least to have perfect results, as we will certainly be taxed for them. The City Government, we suppose, will not scruple to pay for work actually accomplished by the City Inspector, though we do not see that it could be called upon to pay the other parties for work not accomplished.

Mr. Delavan, in a brief report of his labors, makes some excellent suggestions in regard to other imperatively-demanded sanitary improvements, which, now that hot weather is setting in, deserve attention.

Cotton, and How to Get It.

It has been stated that on a careful calculation it is judged that two hundred thousand bales of cotton have been released from rebel embargo by Gen. Banks' recent successes in Western Louisiana. This cotton, in one mode and another, but perhaps slowly, will be got to market; for it is to be observed that almost universally, as our armies have advanced into cotton-growing districts, the owners of the staple have been found anxious to sell it, even to Yankees, and to get "greenbacks" in payment. Men who have been active in the rebel army, but who have dodged home on the advent of the "Federals," to look after their negroes and families, (their negroes first,) have been known to degenerate in a few days from chivalric champions of "Southern rights" into cunning and successful cotton brokers and contraband traders—making partnership with avaricious "Yankees"—and the twain driving a highly lucrative business in cheating their respective Governments of their "belligerent rights."

"Cotton is King" in the Southern heart—say what we may of its title to rule elsewhere. All that a Southerner hath will he give—for his cotton. He will follow its fortunes in the Confederacy so long as the Confederate armies watch over and protect it—but without compunction or remorse he will shift his allegiance and make his bed on cotton when he finds it enveloped in the National lines. The Yankee, in theory, the cotton-planter holds as his mortal enemy; but a more unnatural and hated enemy than a Yankee is he who sticks a torch into the planter's cotton bales. Hence it happens that in many districts in Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi, where, a year ago, a "Federal" soldier would have been shot as worse than a wild beast, the presence of a body of Union troops is hailed as a blessing, because it frightens away the guerrillas, who are all cotton-burners, and affords the planters and holders opportunity to realize wonderful prices for their cotton.

It is estimated, we see, that Gen. Grant, supposing him to take and hold both Jackson and Vicksburgh, will release a million bales of cotton, which may also be expected soon as an addition to the world's supply. This calculation is wide of the mark—a half million would be a big estimate, even if the greater part of the State were rid of rebel troops, which is not likely to be the case very soon. But supposing that a quarter of a million bales only are obtained, this amount, added to that which Gen. Banks' Department is expected to yield, will make an addition to the general supply that must be felt very perceptibly in the prices of all cotton goods, both here and abroad. Already, we find, there is a heavy decline in sheetings, cotton muslins, and cotton goods generally, amounting to 20 per cent., and in some cases more, owing to the changed prospects of the cotton market. The great and unexpected contributions in the Southwest are not only in themselves sufficient to produce a decline in prices, but they bear a certain promise for the future that will prevent a further material advance.

Our Government should take care to foster and encourage a trade which will give the largest amount of this reclaimed cotton to market. This trade, rightly conducted, may become a bond of re-Union with thousands of persons in the Confederate States. If they are sore for the loss of their slaves, which must go free, the high price to be got for their cotton will nearly make up the loss; and they will be glad to be quits evenly with the rebellion. The Government does not seem to have put in force any general policy of seizing for itself and confiscating cotton in the cotton-growing districts of the South that have come within our control; and perhaps, under the circumstances, it is quite as well that it has not been done. If all the cotton found within our advanced lines be confiscated, there will be no motive for its owners to bring it out from its thousand places of concealment; no inducement to move it to river banks or railroads from the interior plantations, which our troops cannot be expected to visit; no care on the part of the owners, in fact, to preserve a bale, seeing that neither they nor their families will ever enjoy the proceeds of a pound of it; and the result will be a bonfire throughout the South—every man burning what he can no longer hope to use. In this way, our Government agents would not get five thousand bales where five hundred thousand are expected, and one of the strongest holds on the interests of Southern people would be lost.

A Waste of Labor.—Our neighbor, the Herald, wastes a great deal of space and labor in canvassing the relative success of the two Conventions which met at Utica on Tuesday and Wednesday, in what it assumes to be their objects. The first seeks to make Mr. Chase President, and the other aims to achieve the same feat for Mr. Seward, according to the Herald. Being just now especially devoted to the renomination and reëlection of Mr. Lincoln, that journal naturally opposes both. It can take comfort. Its candidate is in no danger from either of the others, so far as the action of the Utica Conventions are concerned. Both those bodies, according to the best of our knowledge and belief, utterly ignored the claims of the distinguished statesmen named, and, indeed, of everybody else to the Presidency. We did not see nor hear of a single man, in either meeting, who would express himself in favor of Chase, Seward, Lincoln or anybody else for President. There seemed to be a very general conviction that unless we were to have a country, it would be a matter of very little consequence who should be President; and that the first thing in order was, therefore, to crush the rebellion and restore the Union. When that has been accomplished, we can begin to talk about Presidential candidates.

The Peterhoff Question.

The action of our Government in withdrawing the mails of the Peterhoff from the custody of the prize-officers, and giving them up to the English authorities, is not passed by entirely without discussion in England; and though there are doubtless many there whose hearts exulted over the announcement of the fact, as being another proof that all the world must crouch before the British lion, yet there are not wanting some who look at the affair in another aspect, and see in it a limitation of the rights of belligerents, which may hereafter be very injurious to England when she again has a war upon her hands. "Historicus," who has lately published such excellent letters on international questions, has written one upon this subject. He cites the ancient claim that a neutral convoy privileged the vessels under its charge from search and capture, which England resisted, and destroyed the Danish fleet in resisting; and he shows very clearly and forcibly that the claim of inviolability set up for the Peterhoff's mails because they bore the official seal is the same claim, but in a stronger form. For if the convoy of a national ship-of-war is no guarantee of the good faith of a vessel, how much less is the mere presence of an official seal a guarantee of the contents of a mail-bag? And he goes on to show, what is obvious to any one who has given the subject a moment's thought, that the instant the rule is established that a mail-bag is inviolable, that moment all the true papers connected with a vessel and her cargo are sure to be deposited there, leaving only false and simulated ones for the inspection of belligerent vessels.

There has been a disposition in some quarters of our country to claim from this affair an advantage for neutrals in time to come. We cannot look upon it in this light. As long as the nations agree upon allowing a blockade as a means of carrying on war, it is for the interest of all of them that there should be as little opportunity for fraud and deception as possible. Let them adopt the broad rule that private property is to be inviolable in war, as well on sea as on land, if they please. The whole system of war will then be changed; so far changed as to entirely do away with any question of mails at all. But so long as the present system prevails, and it is the rule of war that neutrals shall not violate a blockade, there can be but one interest for all nations, so far as means of fraud are concerned. Everything should be open and above board upon a neutral vessel. There should be no means of fraud; and yet the adoption of the rule claimed in the case of the Peterhoff gives to every vessel an inviolable receptacle of fraud. It sets up the shield of international law before that which the Courts have always exerted their utmost endeavors to prevent, and to punish whenever they have been able to discover it.

It can never be a substantial gain to any nation thus to protect deceit and dishonesty. And instead of looking at the giving up of the mails of the Peterhoff, as a step favorable to our interests as a nation, which is and is to be almost always neutral, we fear that the principles involved in it, to use the words of "Historicus," "are fraught with consequences the most dangerous and disastrous." He looks at it, it is true, with reference to the interests of England alone. But the preservation of international law from becoming the inevitable cover for deceit, is an interest far wider than the interests of any one nation.

NEW-YORK POLITICS.

Meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee—The Rebellion to be Put Down—The Sentiments of Gov. Seymour's Letter Indorsed.

Albany, Thursday, May 28.

The Democratic State Central Committee met here to-day. There was a full attendance. The resolutions readopt the declaration of the last State Convention, in regard to the support of the Government to suppress the rebellion. They declare that while peace is desired by every patriot, it must be on a basis of the restoration of the Union under the Constitution; that the present Administration is not any more capable of making such a peace than it has shown itself to conduct a successful war; and that any attempt to urge it to a peace will only enable it in conjunction with the Davis Government to consummate a separation of the States, to which the Democrats will never submit. The resolutions then refer to the declarations of the Loyal League Convention, which they construe as placing the military above the civil power, and accept the issue proclaiming the determination to stand by the Constitution and against all such slavish and despotic doctrines. They admit the jurisdiction of military law within the lines of warlike operations, but declare every attempt beyond those limits to prostrate civil power by military force treason to the country and Constitution. They indorse the sentiments of the Governor's letter to the Albany meeting.

THE LOYAL LEAGUE CONVENTION.

Full Report of Mr. Gerrit Smith's Speech.

The following is a full report, from the Utica Herald of May 28, of the speech delivered in the Loyal League Convention at Utica on Tuesday last:

This strikes me as a very mottled assemblage, politically considered, and in a certain point of view, morally considered also. Here we are, Democrats and Republicans, temperance men and anti-temperance men, some one thing and some another, and there are soldiers among us. I see soldiers [applause] who have returned from the battle-field wet with the sweat of war, and some of them with its blood. They have returned to receive our benedictions and to be the witnesses of our enduring and deep gratitude for their heroic defence of our bleeding country. [Applause.] Now what is the object that has had the power to collect this heterogeneous assemblage? I answer, it is a common cause. This is the mighty loadstone that has been able to draw us together, in spite of our mutual differences in spite of our different views and different character. There are persons so bigoted and so impracticable as not to consent to come into a common cause. I know Democrats who, not even to save their beloved country—I cannot say, however, how beloved to them—[laughter]—there are Democrats, I say, who, not even to save this dear country, will consent to vote any other than a Democratic ticket; and I know Republicans who will not consent to vote any other but a Republican ticket; and I know Abolitionists, and I am ashamed of them, [laughter,] and even Temperance men, who will not consent to work with any other than their own sort of people. But we, I thank God for it, are not such We, though differing from each other at many points, can, nevertheless, when the nation calls for it, consent to work together. Now, I ask, what is this common cause which has drawn us together? Just here give me your special attention. I ask, again, what is this common cause? Is it to save the Constitution? Oh! it is inexpressibly more than that. There are many good, patriotic men, who don't wish the Constitution saved as it is; they wish to have it altered. I, for one, would not have one word of it altered; I have pleaded for it with lips and pen, more than any Democrat living or dead. I would not have one word in it altered. [Applause.] Well, if this common cause is not to save the Constitution is it to save the Union? Oh! no! unspeakably more than that. There are good men, and wise men, who do not like all the terms of our Union; I like them all. [Applause.] I have never taken in my life, with lips or pen, the slightest exception to any of them; and probably never shall. Well, is it then the saving of the country that is this common cause? It is not even that, for there are many good men who do not like the present boundaries of our country. They wish it to be made smaller. For my own part, every rood of it is dear to my heart. [Applause.] I would not have one star pass from the National flag. [Applause.] Not even poor South Carolina. [Applause and laughter.] I love even South Carolina. I love her for the memory of her noble men who stood by the side of our revolutionary fathers. I love her for another reason; I love her for what she will become again when she shall have come out of her present degeneracy and madness. Well, now, if this common cause which has drawn us together is not the saving of the Constitution, nor the saving of the Union, nor the saving of the country, pray what then is it? My answer will be—and it will leap up from all your hearts to your lips—it is the putting down of this accursed and causeless rebellion. [Applause.] That is the common cause that has drawn us together. And now mark you we all stand together at this point, where all good and just and patriotic men can and do stand with us. [Applause.] And then one thing more; that is the very point where unpatriotic and selfish men refuse to stand with us. The very point. And yet, some of these unpatriotic and self-seeking men, and traitors among them, are very eager to assure us of their intense regard for the Union and Constitution and country. But when we turn upon them with the question, "Are you for putting down the rebellion?" they are found wanting. That is just the only test to apply to them, and under its application they fall. I recollect that more than thirty years ago, when Great Britain was agitated by the proposition to abolish British Slavery, some Quakers supplied themselves with an image of a kneeling slave, and the appealing question was running out of its mouth, "Am I not a man and a brother?" When the candidates for seats in Parliament would come around to these Quakers and solicit their votes, and tell them of incalmany fine things they would do if elected—things peculiarly acceptable to Quakers—these cunning Quakers would thrust in the face of these candidates this appealing image, and ask them, "Can you go that? If you can't go that, we can't go you." Just so do I do with these men, when they prate about their love for the Constitution, the Union and the country. I ask them, and you ask them, can you go for putting down the rebellion? If you can't go that, we can't go you. O, why should we go these vile hypocrites—for such they are—who talk about being for the Constitution and the Union and the country, and yet go, not for putting down the rebellion, the putting down of which can alone save these blessings to us, and the triumph of which will rob us of them all? And now we have before us but one duty; our one work is the work of putting down the rebellion. You have got to come to this point. I don't allow myself to be a co-worker with anyone on earth who does not come to this point. The putting down of this rebellion must be done, come what will to Constitution and Union, and even country. [Applause.] Can you go that? [Applause, and cries of "Yes, yes."] For I hold that our duty to Justice, in putting down this rebellion, is infinitely more commanding and absolute than any duty we owe to the Constitution or the Union, or even the boundaries of our country. I claim that we are to go for putting down the rebellion unconditionally. Can you go that? You are not to say, we will consent to put down the rebellion on condition of the saving of the Constitution, the saving of the Union, or the saving of the country. You are to say, we go for putting down the rebellion unconditionally, and that is just where these traitorous enemies will not go along with us. [Applause.] What some one questions me, Would you go for putting down this rebellion with all the possible risks that the Union, the Constitution, and the country might go down with it? I answer, I would. I answer, I make no calculation at all at that point. My only duty has been, from the first, the putting down of this rebellion. And hence, some old Abolitionists, perhaps, would ask me, Do you go for putting down this rebellion at all possible hazards, that Slavery may survive and be stronger than ever? I would. I run that risk. [Applause.] I have no conditions to make in behalf of any of my hobbies, and have not had since the day the news reached me at Peterboro of the bombardment of Sumter. [Applause.] And now let me here say, that in my philosophy, the putting down of crime cannot bring any harm to any good, cannot bring any help to any evil. Hence the putting down of this rebellion, which is the crime of crimes, cannot bring any possible harm to any good, in the Constitution, in the Union, or in the country, or in Freedom—none whatever. I call it the crime of crimes. Earth has never known a greater crime than this attempt to destroy a nation which had never done anything to provoke that attempt, a nation which had always been not only just, but exceedingly partial, to those guilty of this piratical and murderous attempt. [Applause.] And now let me here say, that to make ourselves most effective in this work, we ought to cultivate earnestness. Oh! what an immense advantage the South has had over us in that respect? If all our early Generals—I beg your pardon, Mr. President, I didn't include yourself—[laughter]—you are too nearly kindred to me that I should do that—I say if our early Generals had had but a tithe of the earnestness that characterizes the South and Southern Generals, we should not have needed to be meeting here; the rebellion would long ago have ended. And there is one thing more we need to cultivate, and that is resentment. Can you go that? ["Yes, Sir," and applause.] I know there is a sentimental, namby-pamby religion, which takes fright at the idea of cultivating resentment. We need more resentment to fight the rebels as we ought to fight them. That has been our want all the way through. I recall a conversation with that great and good man, THEODORE PARKER, which I had a few years before his death—a conversation on the elements in human character. He claimed great credit for our power of party hating. That's like him; and were he now alive, you might be sure of having at least one hearty hater of the rebellion. He would exclaim with the Psalmist, "Do not I hate them, O Lord! I hate them with a perfect hatred." Perhaps some one would remind me of the prayer, "Father, forgive them, they know not what they do." Now, I hold that this resentment is entirely compatible with the highest civilization and purest Christianity, and entirely consistent with forgiveness; but, moreover, these rascals do know what they do. [Great laughter and applause.] Our Saviour had none such in his eye when he prayed. [Applause.] They know what they do, and they do it with a hatred and with a will that puts to shame our indecision and gentleness. I say, we must go unconditionally for putting down the rebellion. And let me add, our loyalty is to be unconditional. We have tried our Government and we can trust it. [Applause.] I do not say that we are bound to agree with it in all its views of tariffs and other things; I do not say that we are bound to approve all war measures even. It is entitled to our loyalty, because it has abundantly proved itself to be honestly and earnestly intent on putting down the rebellion. I observed this forenoon a skittishness on one point—at the point of politics. A word on that. I have observed, I mean to say, that some persons are afraid that this grand Loyal League, into which I would have all right men of the North, South, East and West enter, will become a party machine. Now I would have this grand Loyal League a mighty power in politics. That's my view of it. [Applause.] I would have it work day and night to keep out of political office every man who is not unconditionally against the rebellion. I do not say keep out of office Democrats or Republicans, but every man who does not stand by the Government, who is not unconditionally for the Government. I have never in my life voted a Republican ticket; for I am, as I think, a Democrat of Democrats. Not a sham, spurious Democrat; but a man going for equal rights of all men. [Applause.] If any man here can say, I am a Democrat, I answer in Paul's words—"I, more." Our great work is before us. It is not to save the Union, or the Constitution, or the country; that is all prating. I do not want to hear a man speak about his love for his country, but rather about his hatred of the rebels. I will infer his love for his country from his hatred of the rebels. Put down the rebellion, and the Union, and the Constitution and the country will take care of themselves. If a murderer should be discovered in Utica, the concern is to be not for the safety of Utica, but to arrest and punish the murderer. Arrest and punish him, and Utica will take care of herself. Nor do I want you to talk about what shall be done after the rebellion is put down. The rebellion is not put down yet, and we never shall put it down if we allow ourselves to be diverted from the actual and urgent duties of the present to speculations in regard to the future. The only problem, Mr. President, that we can solve today, is putting down the rebellion. I would postpone every other thought to that solution. Let me add, "Sufficient to the day is the evil thereof." We must grudge nothing; we must grudge no help, no precious treasure, no precious lives. Neither treasure nor life would be worth anything to us, or any right minded man, if this rebellion were triumphant. If we should fail, we shall need no property to live on, for then we shall be sinking under loads of infamy and anguish of heart, and shall desire to live no longer.

Letter from Judge Denio, of the Court of Appeals.

UTICA, May 25, 1863.

GENTLEMEN: I feel obliged to the Committee for the invitation to the popular demonstration which is to take place this week in this city, and for the opportunity of perusing the resolutions which are expected to be offered. The sentiments appear to me to be just and patriotic, and they have my earnest approval.

No crisis in the history of society ever before so persuasively called upon a people to forego all party and personal differences, and to devote their whole heart, and whatever of influence or consideration they may individually possess, to the cause of their country, to the preservation of their territory in its integrity, and to the upholding of its fundamental institutions. It is easy to point out mistakes and imperfections in the civil and military administration of the Government, and, after the fact, to show how they might have been avoided or remedied; and there is naturally a temptation to persons who, like myself, did not aid, by their suffrages, in bringing the persons actually exercising the powers of government into their official positions, to dwell much upon, and to exaggerate such errors, and under the influence of party sentiments to lose sight of the character and importance of the contest in which we are engaged. But the persistence in such a course of thought and action is as wrong in principle as it is hurtful to the National cause. A Government, like ours, based upon popular suffrage, in which official positions are renewable at brief intervals, can never suffer permanently, or for any considerable time, from erroneous precedents; but there is great danger, in a time like this, that while a portion of the people are employing their energies in disparaging the actual Administration, and endeavoring to bring it into contempt and to cover it with odium, that the National forces and the people at large, distracted and discouraged by the clamor of parties, will lose heart and hope; and that the conflict for the suppression of the rebellion, which can never be abandoned, will be thereby prolonged. Hence it is to me a gratifying feature in your demonstration, that it proposes to ignore party distinctions, and to embrace loyal men of all shades of political opinion. If the insurgent leaders could be once thoroughly persuaded of the truth that every man and woman in the loyal States is as thoroughly determined to resist their projects of dismemberment, as I believe that, for the most part, they really are, that conviction would go further than many regiments of armed men to bring the contest to an end. Men of all parties ought, by the plainest dictates of patriotism, to yield to the existing National Government a full, ingenuous and cordial support, not only by contributions of men and means, but by encouraging language and a hearty sympathy in their labors and trials.

I can perceive no reasons for discouragement. The conspirators, who had been long engaged in maturing their wicked schemes, saw the country disarmed and quiet, unused to war or to arms, and cultivating only the arts of peace; and they, in collusion with some of the heads of the executive departments, and members of the Federal Legislature—men whom no sentiments of personal honor and no oaths could bind—seized upon the National fortresses, public defences and magazines of arms, upon the whole Southern coast and the great rivers, commenced a bloody war upon the loyal States and people, and, inviting foreign nations, who hated our free institutions and dreaded our increasing power, to come and take part with them, attempted to seize the Capital of the Republic, founded by the Father of his Country, and bearing his venerated name, and avowed their determination to subvert and destroy the Union of the States, to establish which he had devoted the labors of his life. If this shall be accomplished, the last hopes of the friends of freedom here and throughout the world will be extinguished in shame and sorrow. But how has this nefarious enterprise thus far sped? The fortresses and the seaports have been nearly all recovered. Several of the States embraced in the insurgent organization have been reclaimed and brought back to their duty, and the Federal authority has been re-established in them; and moreover the great father of waters, the mighty Mississippi, the common highway and outlet to the ocean of more than three millions of faithful, free and industrious people, has, there is reason to believe, been wrested from their treacherous grasp, and restored to the uses of friendly commercial intercourse. The foreigner has not accepted the treasonable invitation; and every omen augurs the triumph of the National cause. Let us not, by our dissensions, prolong the horrors of the contest.

But we should not forget that we are not in arms for purposes of conquest or dominion. Our purpose is simply to restore our glorious Union. That done, and due punishment being meted out to the leading conspirators, who have offended equally against their compatriots and us, and our laws and the Constitution should resume their wonted supremacy.

Gratitude and admiration for the gallant achievements of our brave soldiers and officers, and sympathy for their sufferings and dangers are sentiments which, on an occasion like this, rise spontaneously in every mind. And then the heroic youth who have fallen on the field of battle! Their blood is upon the guilty heads of the conspirators, but their memory will be eternally cherished by a grateful country.

Respectfully, your obedient servant, H. DENIO.

Letter from the Governor of Delaware.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 21, 1863.

Prosper M. Wetmore, Esq.:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, inviting me to be present at an assemblage of loyal citizens at Utica, on the 27th instant.

I assure you that it would give me pleasure to participate in the proceedings of the meeting, but my official engagements forbid.

Concurring entirely in its object, I desire to express my approval of the employment of every means available for the suppression of the rebellion.

I rejoice to believe that the people, more than ever, comprehend the magnitude of the contest and the tremendous interests involved in the issue—that they now, more than ever before, evince a calm, but firm determination that the Government must be sustained.

Let the Administration rely upon their intelligence and public virtue, and go straight onward, whether in fighting its open foes, or in suppressing the treasonable efforts of sympathizers, who claim the protection of the laws, while contributing their influence to the support of the public enemy.

Let the people trust those who are constitutionally invested with this power, and clothed with the duty of maintaining the integrity of the Union.

Let us have faith that "right makes might," and as good citizens sustain the Chief Magistrate, whose honesty not even the malice of his enemies has ventured to question, in his efforts to quell this wicked insurrection, and to restore a lasting peace, by the vindication of the supremacy of the Government over the whole land.

I am, with great respect, WILLIAM CANNON.

Messrs. Ralph Pomeroy & Co.:

GENTLEMEN:

As an unsolicited act on my part, and with a deep-felt gratitude to you, I fervently bear witness to the potency of your "Magic Stomach Bitters." I have for years been under the influence of general debility, and have tried many medicaments, and almost everything that bore the name of bitters, without relief; but chance, or, I may say, good fortune, threw old Dr. Jacob Townsend's Bitters in my way, and its effect (as the label indicates) was magic—one bottle made a new man of me, and I now feel by its continued use as if I had a new lease of life. My strength, appetite and general health is as "good as new," and I can only wish that the invalid and dyspeptic may have a chance of appreciating it.

Yours, truly,
BENJ. S. PENNIMAN.

A NEW TALE IN THE NEW-YORK LEDGER, entitled

THE SILVER DIGGER.

A TALE OF THE MEXICAN EMPIRE.

BY ILLION CONSTELLANO.

WILL BE READY

ON

MONDAY NEXT, JUNE 1,

IN

THE NEW-YORK LEDGER.

On the night of the 18th of May, 1822, Augustin Iturbide, after desperate efforts to carry out his plan of National independence, as published the previous year at Iguala, was proclaimed Emperor of Mexico, under the title of Augustin I., by the army and the populace of the capital. The anarchy which had suggested this step, however, was not ended by it. Santa Anna, then entering upon his career, was in command at Vera Cruz, and met the Emperor's attempt to remove him by coming out for the restoration of the Republic; Gen. Bravo, who had previously acted with Iturbide, instantly associated himself with other notable men to overthrow the Empire; and the country was soon in greater convulsions than ever. After a stormy reign of ten months, in the midst of bitter factions and conspiracies, the Emperor finally abdicated on the 23d of March, 1823, and thus terminated the only "imperial" régime Mexico has seen since the days of the Montezumas. It is from the histories of those stirring times that the author has drawn the materials of this tale.

"THE GREAT PHILOSOPHICAL WORK OF THE AGE."

DRAPER'S
INTELLECTUAL DEVELOPMENT OF EUROPE.

HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW-YORK,
PUBLISH THIS DAY:

A HISTORY OF THE INTELLECTUAL DEVELOPMENT OF EUROPE. By JOHN WILLIAM DRAPER, M. D., LL. D., Professor of Chemistry and Physiology in the University of New-York; author of a "Treatise on Human Physiology," &c., &c. 8vo, cloth, $3 50.

The aim of this book is to show that the civilization of Europe has not proceeded in an arbitrary manner, or by chance, but that it has passed through a determinate succession of stages, and has been developed according to natural law.

The author's mode of treating the subject is altogether from a scientific point of view, and hence he is led to the consideration of many of those questions that have attracted public attention of late years so strongly. In this respect, the work presents very great novelty, yet it is composed in so popular a style as to render it suitable not only for persons who delight in philosophical reading, but likewise for students of history everywhere.

In the United States, at the present moment, its publication cannot but be acceptable. It is full of principles and suggestions that every thoughtful reader will connect with the great events now transpiring. It also, from the history of the past, in no indistinct manner foreshadows our future.

Scientific opinions are steadily exercising an ever-increasing power in Modern Civilization. They are beginning to modify political institutions. The work of Dr. Draper is the first attempt that has been made to describe their rise and progress, and how it is that in recent times they have acquired such a wonderful influence. A growing want of some authentic exposition of them has long been felt among intelligent readers. That want is here supplied, with the advantage that ideas too generally serving only to provoke contention are presented in a temperate manner, and discussed with a candor that cannot fail to command respect.

☞ HARPER & BROTHERS will send the above work by mail, postage free, for any distance in the United State under 1,500 miles, on receipt of $3 50.

LULU.
THE NEW NOVEL.
A NEW EDITION READY TO-DAY.
"It beats 'Widow Bedott' all to pieces."
LULU.
BY MANSFIELD T. WALWORTH, OF SARATOGA.

A singularly striking and humorous Love Story, which will find many readers among the admirers of the better class of sensation novels.

The vigorous pictures of "Our Set and the Other Set"—Codfish Aristocracy and Codfish Weddings—abound in fun, and have already created much stir in certain circles.

One large 12mo, cloth bound, price $1 25.

MR. BRACE'S NEW WORK,
THE RACES OF THE OLD WORLD.
A Manual of Ethnology. By C. L. BRACE. In 1 vol. post 8vo. $2.

It is the only general work in so brief a form on this subject. It treats of "The Earliest Historical Races;" then of "The Races of Asia in the Middle Ages;" of the "Modern Races of Asia, Africa, Oceanica and Europe," including the latest information in regard to the tribes of the Pacific, the interior peoples of Africa, and such races as the Basques and the Gipsies. The subject of Acclimation, Hybridity, Degeneracy, and the formation of Varieties, as bearing on the question of Unity or Diversity of Origin, are discussed at length.

By
CHARLES MORAN.
1 vol., 12mo. Cloth, $1 25.
EXTRACT FROM PREFACE.

"The constantly increasing division of labor daily increases the exchange of commodities and services, in which money plays so important a part. The subject of money is, therefore, supposed by the writer to be of sufficient general interest to warrant the publication of the present work. If it shall aid in dissipating any of the numerous errors and prejudices so long connected with money, and thus increase the power of this instrument to further the well-being and progress of humanity, the object of the writer will be attained and his labors amply compensated."

LECTURES
SYMBOLIC CHARACTER
OF THE SCRIPTURES.
BY
REV. ADIEL SILVER,
Minister of the New Jerusalem Church.
1 vol. 12mo. 286 pages. $1 25.

These lectures, delivered to a mixed congregation, during the past Winter, are now given to the public.

"The author assures the reader, who has not looked into the spiritual sense of the Holy Word, that if he has a desire to do so, and will study the science of correspondences, and read these simple illustrations of the Sacred Scriptures with a sincere desire to become acquainted with the Word of God, that he may the better know his Heavenly Father, his own soul and the true way of life, that he may walk in it, the Lord will open to his mind a new field of thought, and lead him to a fountain of heavenly wisdom which he will prize more valuable than all things else; for he will find therein the true life of Heaven."—Extract from Preface.

BY JAMES M. MILER,

Office No. 28 Pine-st.,
FRIDAY, May 29,
At 12 o'clock, at the Exchange Salesroom, 111 Broadway, FORDHAM HEIGHTS, WESTCHESTER COUNTY.
By order of and under the direction of Charles W. Bathgate, Esq., Executor of James Bathgate, deceased, one-half mile from the Harlem Railroad station at Fordham, and about the same distance from the steamboat landing on the Harlem River, the following described valuable property, viz.: Ninety acres of land, beautifully located, in a high state of cultivation. On the premises are three dwellings. Persons wishing to purchase with a view of residence or investment will find this a favorable opportunity. Its easy access to the City, the natural beauty of the locality, surrounded by some of the finest improvements in the country, render it one of the most desirable places in the market for investment. A contemplated road, 100 feet wide, along the banks of the Harlem River, when completed, will pass within a short distance of this property, being in a direct line and continuation of 7th-av.

QUARTERMASTER-GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON CITY, March 19, 1863.

OWNERS OF STEAM VESSELS ARE INVITED to send to the Quartermaster-General's Office tenders for their charter or sale.

Senders should contain descriptions of the vessels, their dimensions, enrolled or registered tonnage, actual carrying capacity, material, whether coppered, whether side or stern wheel propellers, whether iron or copper fastened, size and power of engines and boilers, and the price at which they are offered, for long or short charter, with the estimated value of the vessel in case of loss, or in case the Government should prefer to purchase instead of chartering.

Owners of steam vessels already in the service of the Quartermaster's Department are requested to make known to the Department any reduction in their present rates which they may be willing to grant, and also the price at which they will be willing to sell them.

All such tenders should be addressed to the Quartermaster-General of the United States at Washington, and should be indorsed

"Proposals for charter or sale of steamers."

When received they will be considered, and the Department will endeavor to reduce the heavy expense attending army transportation upon the ocean and lake waters, by substituting, wherever it can do so, cheaper vessels of equal capacity for those now employed.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and expense than any one can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send or write.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS, SUCCESSfully consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa, gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This unrivaled agent restores immediately the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world, guarantee a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established in 1834. N. B.—Those who have used their preventives in a never will boast. Send for a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

DRS. TRALL & JACKSON'S "PATHOLOGY OF THE REPRODUCTIVE ORGANS."—"This is really a scientific work of great practical value. All other works on the subjects discussed in this volume, that have fallen under our observation, are addressed mainly to a purient taste, and are positively perfidious."—Chicago Tribune. "This volume is full of scientific information of incalculable benefit in the cure of disease."—New-Bedford Mercury. "It is unquestionably the most complete, the most sensible and the most valuable work of its kind yet published."—The New Yorker. "It offers judicious advice to suffering humanity, which will save thousands from complicating their affliction by resorting to quack doctors and empirical treatment."—Boston Journal. "It is the only work in existence containing directions which will positively cure that distressing disease termed spermatorrhœa, and other sexual diseases which cause so much misery to the human family."—Boston Express.

Price $1. Sold in New-York by FOWLER & WELLS, No. 308 Broadway.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR GOUT AND RHEUMATISM.

All suffering from the above complaints, either of recent or long standing, are advised to use Dr. Dade's Gout and Rheumatic Pills. DR. CORBETT, MEMBER OF THE N. Y. University, (Medical College,) and Royal College of Surgeons, London, has removed from No. 14 Prince-st. to his present very convenient suite of offices at No. 22 Centre-st., between Chambers and Reade sts., with a private entrance at No. 6 City Hall-place, where he can be consulted in the most delicate manner on all diseases affecting the urinary organs. Thirty years of his present specialty, three of which have been at the Hospitals of this City, enable him to guarantee a cure in every case undertaken, or make no charge. Strictures of the urethra, impotency, seminal weaknesses, &c., treated on the most scientific principles. N. B.—As a proof of Dr. C.'s qualifications, he would call special attention to his Diplomas, which can be seen in his office.

DR. COOPER, NO. 14 DUANE-ST., MAY BE confidently consulted on all diseases of a private nature. A practice of 30 years, devoted to the treatment and cure of Syphilis, Gonorrhœa, Seminal diseases, and delicate nature, enables Dr. C. to make speedy and permanent cures, no matter of how long standing the case may be. Strictures of the urethra and seminal weakness, brought on by a secret habit, effectually cured. The victims of misplaced confidence, who have been misled by quack advertisements, can call on Dr. C. with the certainty of being radically cured. N. B.—Dr. C. is a regularly educated physician and surgeon, and a member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New-York. Office hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

FROM NEW-YORK TO G

AFFAIRS IN ENGLAND.

The First News of Gen. Hooker's Defeat—Another Privateer Afloat—The Manchester Clothiers at Work for the South—When Recognition May Come.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Saturday, May 16, 1863.

The Persia is in with news of two days' fighting south of the Rappahannock, awful carnage, and the defeat and rout of some divisions of the Army of the Potomac. There the news leaves us, and we must remain four or five days in suspense as to the final result. A battle or military movement begun with rout may end with victory; but I need not say that few in England expect it.

A vessel of the "Chinese fleet," building in England, has left this week. She is an iron paddle steamer, of 600 tons, built by your friends, LAIRD BROTHERS, of Birkenhead, is double plated, with a ram stem, six guns and a Whitworth 32, and 90 picked men. Of course, she is intended to smash up the junks of the Taepings in the China seas; but if she or any others of this squadron should lose their way and find themselves in the Gulf of Mexico, it would not be a matter for special wonder.

It is announced in the Manchester trade reports that the manufacturers of that town are supplying large clothing contracts for the Southern army. One house supplies a lot of 6,000 shirts; others great quantities of ready-made clothing. There is a rapid and pretty regular trade with the Southern ports, both from Bermuda and Nassau. The Federal cruisers, I judge, capture just about one vessel in ten, running the blockade. This raises the price of insurance, no doubt, but rather stimulates trade. Southern papers complain that goods in much larger quantities are smuggled across the frontier, and foolishly imagine that such a trade is an injury to the South. Is there much doubt that a large proportion of the munitions of war now in the hands of the Southern armies were furnished by Northern speculators?

We have a Mr. JEWETT here from Colorado, who has come on the Tom Fool's errand—his own—of volunteer Ambassador to the Powers of Europe, to engage them in another effort at mediation. Mr. JEWETT may save his money and spare his trouble. There will be no more offers of mediation. The Mexican business is nearly settled, or should be by this time. The great Powers will hold each other in check until Russia can restore Poland, where, to this day, the peasantry, that is, the great mass of the people, have taken no part in the revolution, or have acted against it. When the time and the necessity have come, there will be recognition, if you have by that time left anything to recognize; and by that time there will be no lack of pretexts for a forcible intervention.

What can I say more? I can only repeat what I have said already. The necessities of Europe and the desperation of the South make it impossible for the war to be prolonged. What you do must be done in this campaign. You have six months left for conquest. End the war, in the only way you have thought of ending it, within the year, or it will be ended for you. You will be obliged to end it in a way you have not deemed possible, or to merge it in a greater war, the end of which cannot be so readily predicted.

Great Loyal Meeting—Convention of Loyal Leagues—A Secret League—Animated Discussions, &c., &c.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

CLEVELAND, O., Wednesday, May 20, 1863.

This city is just now the scene of a gathering which promises to develop into something of more than usual political significance. In the first place, the people have been stirred up to-day by one of the largest Union meetings ever assembled here. With MONTGOMERY BLAIR, JIM LANE, Hon. W. A. BINGHAM, and other celebrated speakers to address them, they have for hours together remained in great crowds in the public square, and received with unbounded applause the stirring Union sentiments uttered. But the assembly of most interest to the nation is the more quiet one, which for two days has been in active session at the Angier House, and in one of the public halls. It is the Convention of Representatives of Loyal Leagues in the different Northern States. These delegates have been fast arriving on the Eastern, Western and Southern trains, and their presence, together with that of the large numbers who have come hither to attend the Baptist anniversaries, has crowded to a sadly uncomfortable degree the principal hotels. Their sessions are strictly secret, and the presence of reporters is especially discouraged and guarded against. The object of the Convention is to consolidate out of the material furnished by the Loyal Leagues a more secret league, whose purpose shall be to secure to the Government prompt and efficient support in all its efforts for the preservation of the Union; in enforcing the Conscription act, and in general measures to counteract the baleful influence of the Copperheads. The movement finds some strong opponents even among those who sit in the Convention. The necessity for giving a more secret character to the organization is much questioned by not a few, and fears are expressed that that feature may prove a dangerous one. It is urged, on the other hand, that there is a real necessity for such an organization; that as rebellion is the fruit of such secret leagues of conspirators as the Knights of the Golden Circle, who are still insidiously at work at the North in organizing and perfecting the opposition to the Government, there is urgent need of similar union among the loyal people to protect the Government from insidious attack. The case of Maryland is pointed to, that State having been saved to the Union in large part by the efforts of a secret league composed of many thousands of loyal men. All these questions are being animatedly discussed in the Convention, and it is very evident that the great majority of the delegates are strongly convinced of the propriety of perfecting a more thorough organization than has been yet given to the Loyal Leagues.

The majority of the delegates present are but little known in public life, but they are men of character and position in the communities from which they come, and are actuated by an earnest desire to aid the Government in its tremendous task of crushing the rebellion, and withstanding the insidious or bold assaults of enemies at home. There are, however, several of the leading Massachusetts politicians, and a very considerable delegation from Baltimore, who come prepared to give information as to the working of the Leagues which did so much to insure the safety of Maryland. Among the distinguished persons present in the city, who have had more or less to do with the meeting, are Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Hon. JAMES LANE, Hon. Mr. WENTWORTH, of Massachusetts, DAVID PAUL BROWN, of Philadelphia, and others. These latter have not, however, participated actively in the proceedings, but they have been cognizant of them, and have been naturally consulted with reference to the objects proposed to be accomplished. It would not be proper for me to give anything more than this brief allusion to the intentions of this Convention. But this I can say, there are earnest men at work in it, who, whether their views be correct or erroneous, are fixed in their adherence to certain ideas as to the organization of the loyal sentiment of the country, and, sincere in their convictions, will use every effort to carry them into effect. The meetings of the Convention will be continued to-morrow. Prof. AMASA MCCOY, of Washington, one of the members of the Convention, has to-night delivered to a large audience, in the Cleveland Academy of Music, an eloquent oration on "The London Times and the Rebellion, and the war against the National Constitution."

The Convention in Cleveland—A Secret League Agreed Upon—Dissent.

Correspondence of the New-York Times:

CLEVELAND, O., Thursday, May 21, 1863.

The Convention of Loyal Leagues is still in session in this city, and still sit with closed doors, from which very little intelligence beside that which I have already sent you oozes out. The decision has, however, been ultimately reached that there is a necessity for the formation of a close society, for the unconditional support of the Government and the neutralization of the efforts of the Knights of the Golden Circle. The opposition to a secret organization has been pretty effectually overcome, and to-day the Convention is occupied with perfecting plans for carrying the ideas of the majority into effect. The strictest secrecy is enjoined, and members are wise as owls and mum as sphinxes. Gen. JIM LANE, Hon. OWEN LOVEJOY, Hon. Mr. BINGHAM, and other gentlemen equally well known, are now participating in the discussions of the body, and are strongly in favor of the immediate formation of a close League. Senator HARRIS, of New York, who is still in town, keeps entirely aloof from the gathering, his conduct exciting considerable remark among the delegates. It is known that he is opposed to the secret character which it is desired to give the League, and regards it as fraught with danger to the Republic. His opinions are shared by many influential Union men, who are doing all in their power to prevent the execution of the proposed plan. They contend that a good cause does not need any such clandestine support: that secrecy is more likely to do it injury than prove an aid.

The delegates to the convention are already beginning to leave for their homes, which fact seems to indicate that the most important business has already been accomplished.

THE TURF.

Third Day's Racing of the Passaic County Agricultural Society's Spring Meeting, at Paterson, N. J.

The last day's races took place yesterday, in presence of a most brilliant gathering of nearly 10,000 persons, of whom at least a fourth were females—a large proportion from among the leading families of New-Jersey, many from New-York, and other more distant localities. Those who were present on either or all of the three days of this most successful meeting will fully bear us out in saying, that a more successful and satisfactory race meeting has never been held; and the Executive Committee may reasonably prepare more extensive accommodations to satisfy the public, when they hold their next racing meeting. To show the interest and confidence of the New-York turfmen in the Paterson equine display, it may be remarked that, notwithstanding an enticing packing match was advertised to take place on the Fashion Course, between two celebrated pacers, only about six wagons were there, and but few persons, to witness the event, while at least thirty Erie Railroad cars were required to convey the New-Yorkers and others to Paterson; and all the available fast and other teams and coaches were put in motion over the New-York and Paterson roads to accommodate others.

A passing word on the police arrangements of the Committee, may, perhaps, reach the notice of the managers of our Long Island tracks, to their advantage. Detectives BANNERT and SLOWEY, of the New-York Police, and Detective MASTERSON, of the Erie Railroad Company, were employed by the Committee to give their valuable aid to the Sheriff of Passaic County, who had also a strong posse to eject the roughs. Only three of that genus, however, required attention, and they were put outside the gates in a twinkling. No gambling or drunkenness annoyed the visitors.

The first race was for three-year olds, two mile heats, and was won, after a very close and exciting contest, by Mr. WATSON'S Captain Moore—Mr. JOHN M. CLAY'S Lodi being second, and Mr. BUSH'S Fleetwing third.

First Heat.—Lodi took the lead at the start, closely attended upon by Fleetwing throughout the first mile, and passed into the second mile a length in advance, with Capt. Moore trailing four lengths behind. At the 1½ mile, Fleetwing fell off four lengths, and in going round the turn had given place to Capt. Moore three lengths being between each; from this home an exciting contest took place, Capt. Moore challenging Lodi for the lead, and lapping at the distance stand, and by an extraordinary burst of speed, getting his head in front of Lodi at the score in 3:43¾.

Second Heat.—The Captain led a couple of lengths round the turn, but was passed at the three-quarter pole by Lodi, and was six lengths behind on the last turn in the second mile, but reduced the gap by a fine brush to the ¾ pole to two lengths, when he bolted across the track and lost the heat to Lodi by a couple of lengths. Fleetwing was several lengths behind. Time, 3:59½.

Third Heat.—This was a most exciting contest, the three horses running well together, with Capt. Moore leading throughout, and Lodi lapped on him most of the time and at times neck and neck. The result was that Capt. Moore won the heat and race by only half a length, Lodi and Fleetwing being neck and neck, in 3:47.

The second race, $500, for all ages, three-mile dash, was won by Idlewild, (the competitor with Blackbird for the $20,000 matches,) who beat Mr. HUNTER'S West Roxbury and GEO. WILKES' Panic with the greatest ease. Roxbury led throughout the first mile and passed the score three lengths in advance of Panic, with two more behind under a strong pull. On the back stretch of the second mile, Roxbury opened the gap to six lengths, which was reduced at the entrance on the third mile to an open length between each, at the quarter-pole of the last mile Roxbury had increased his lead to three lengths, while Idlewild gallantly challenged for the lead, first Panic, and then passed him, and again, on back stretch, Roxbury, and also passed him, and obtained a good length in front at the half-mile pole, amidst the greatest excitement.

From this point Idlewild made a brilliant dash round the turn and down the home-stretch, coming past the Judges' stand ten lengths in front of Roxberry, who was followed by Panic, two lengths behind. Idlewild's performance, and the waiting race of the Jocky was much admired, although it was expected that she would win, as two to one was laid on her against the field; the heat was done in 5:38¾.

THIRD RACE.—$700 for all ages, three mile heats, was won by Mr. JOHN M. CLAY'S Edgar, who was ridden by the celebrated jockey GILPATRICK. Dr. WELDON'S Lizzie W., was his only competitor, as the other two entries were distanced the first heat.

First Heat.—The colored boy SEWELL, who rode Lizzie W., took up the running from the start, GILPATRICK trailing with Edgar so much that he was fully eight lengths behind on entering the first turn on the second mile; this was gradually reduced to four lengths on entering the third mile, and at the quarter they were neck and neck, and a brush to the half placed Edgar two lengths in front, and notwithstanding the boy's best effort, GILPATRICK crossed the score three lengths in front, in 5 40¾.

Second Heat.—It is only necessary to say that GILPATRICK took the lead and kept it throughout unapproached by Lizzie to less than a couple of lengths, who sometimes fell six or seven, Edgar winning easily by four lengths in 5 55¼.

Some delays occurred in returning the New-York passengers to town, on account of the pressure of local travel, which will no doubt be remedied on a future occasion.

The following is the summary of the Passaic County Agricultural Society: Spring meeting for 1863—Paterson, N. J. Third day, May 28.

CHIEF-ENGINEER STIMERS IN TROUBLE.

A Court of Inquiry has been ordered to convene at Brooklyn for the purpose of investigating charges preferred against ABNER STIMERS, Chief Engineer of the iron-clad depot in this City. The following are the officers of the Court: Admiral GREGORY, Commodores SILSINGHAN and NICHOLSON. It is alleged that Mr. STIMERS used disrespectful language about Rear-Admiral DUPONT, when coming home from Charleston in the steamer Arago. JOSEPH COLWELL, of Jersey City, and several others, will be summoned as witnesses.

THE RETIRING BOARD ARRIVED IN NEW-YORK.

The Board appointed by the Secretary of the Navy for retiring officers unfit for active service, which formerly sat in the rooms of the Navy Department in Washington, has arrived in this City, and will henceforth conduct its business at the Brooklyn Marine Barracks. Commodore MERVINE, formerly Commander-in-Chief of the Pacific Squadron, Commodore STOKER, and others, compose the Board. The action of the Board is, of course, subject to the same authority as when it held its session at the National Capital.

A GUARD-SHIP FOR THE BATTERY AT LAST.

The increase in magnitude of our navy enables Secretary WELLES to give New-York a guard-ship at last. To-day the United States sailing frigate Sabine, 50 guns, Commodore RINGGOLD, Commander, will take her position off the Battery, to remain there permanently as a representative of our National fleet. She will have a full armament and ship's company on board, for the purpose of saluting foreign vessels-of-war, whose officers can now pay their respects to ours, without risking the perils of rowing to the Navy-yard.

LAUNCH OF THE LENAPEE.

The U. S. double-bowed steamer Lenapee was successfully launched yesterday at Hunter's Point. She is 210 feet long, 35 feet wide and 12 feet deep. She belongs to the fleet of twenty-seven double-enders now in course of construction, the specifications of which have already been noticed in detail. The following vessels of this class are yet to be launched:

Name.	Condition.	Where.
Eutau	Ready to launch	Baltimore.
Mingoe	Ready 10th of June	Bordent'n, N.J.
Peoria	Just commenced	N. York, N. Y.
Tallahoma	Just commenced	N. York, N. Y.
Wateree	Wait'g launch'g orders	Chester, Penn.
Winooska	Nearly finished	Boston N.Yard

The prize-steamer St. John has been condemned at Boston.

VESSELS OFFERED TO THE GOVERNMENT.

The following vessels are offered to the Government:

J. A. DUMONT, Washington, proposes to sell the steamtug W. H. Beaman for $10,000, or to charter her for $40 per day if run in fresh water, or $50 per day if run in salt water.

A. & S. RUSSELL, New-York, proposes to sell a new propeller for $25,000.

GEO. WOOD, Philadelphia, proposes to charter the steamtug Edward Ludlow for $50 per day, for nine months or more, or at $55 per day for any shorter time; value $14,600.

M. SHERMAN, for the Catskill Transportation Company, proposes to charter the steamer Utica, long time, at $175 per day, short time at $200. Government to pay for coal and pilotage.

ISAAC P. SMITH proposes to sell the steamer Armenia for $75,000.

RUSSELL STURGIS, New-York, proposes to charter the steamboat Montpelier for $250 per day.

Sale of the Bergen Estate in Gowanus.

The estate of the late THEODORUS BERGEN, situated on New-York Bay, in the Eighth Ward, and consisting of 70 acres and 850 lots of ground, was sold at auction, yesterday at noon, by A. J. BLEECKER & SON, No. 111 Broadway, New-York. The first section put up was the area bounded by First-avenue, Fifty-fourth and Fifty-seventh streets, and the bulkhead or pier line established by the Harbor Commissioners in 1857. This plot consists of 16 acres, with all the buildings thereon, and was bought by Messrs. WALSH, GABLER & CHASE, at the price of $28,600.

The plot consisting of a half block, bounded by Second-avenue, First-avenue and Fifty-sixth-street, (the remainder having been purchased by Mr. THOS. HUNT at private sale, as it adjoins his land,) consisting of 28 lots, was sold to Mr. JOHN LOTT, who paid $200 per lot for 14 lots, and Mr. J. WALTERS, who paid $190 for the remaining 14 lots in the block, the latter fronting on Second-avenue.

The two blocks bounded by Fifty-sixth and Fifty-fourth streets, First and Second avenues, are reserved for private sale.

Three blocks bounded by Second-avenue, Third-avenue, Fifty-fourth and Fifty-seventh streets, consisting of 119 lots, were bought by Mr. GARRAT G. BERGEN. The block bounded by the above avenues, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh streets, 28 lots, brought $212 50 per lot. The block bounded by the same avenue, 56 lots, brought $200. The block bounded by the same avenues and Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth streets, brought $215 per lot.

The block bounded by Third-avenue, Fourth-avenue and Fifty-sixth-street was bought by Mr. THOMAS HUNT at private sale.

The block bounded by Third and Fourth avenues, Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth streets, comprising 54 lots, was sold to Mr. ROBERT C. BELL, at $205 per lot.

The block bounded by Third and Fourth avenues, Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth streets, was sold in quarter sections. It consists of 26 lots. The quarter plot on Third-avenue and Fifty-fifth-street was sold to Mr. B. M. SMITH, for $200 each. The quarter on Third-avenue and Fifty-fourth-street to Mr. C. B. HACKLEY, at $197 50 per lot.

The other half, fronting on Fourth-avenue, was sold to Mr. GEORGE G. BARCLEFT for $160 per lot.

The remainder of the property has been sold at private sale.

The prices brought were good, and fully equal to the best of times.

Plymouth Excursion—Farewell to Rev. H. W. Beecher.

The demonstrative friends of Rev. H. W. BEECHER propose to accompany him, on his trip to Europe, so far as the light-ship. They have chartered the ocean steamer Merrimac, on which they will take their faithful Monitor in holy things a trip down the Bay, returning in time to meet the City of Baltimore just off the Narrows, where Mr. BEECHER and his traveling companions, President RAYMOND, of the Polytecnic, and Rev. Dr. HOLME, of Brooklyn, will be transferred to the steamer. The Merrimac will leave the foot of Montague-street, Brooklyn, at 10 A. M., on Saturday, and all who desire, within a limited number, can, by the purchase of tickets, share the fun and frolic, the solemnities and farewells of the occasion. Tickets may be had at the church, of Mr. WELD, the Trustees' Clerk.

An Explosion in Cherry-street.

SIX MEN BURNED—TWO OF THEM FATALLY.

About 3½ o'clock yesterday afternoon an explosion occurred in WILSON'S new bakery, in Cherry-street, between Clinton and Montgomery streets, whereby two men, named OWEN and TERRENCE LARKIN, were so badly burned on the head, face and arms that no hopes are entertained of their recovery. Four other men, named WM. H. HENDERSON, EDWARD FLANERY, EDWARD MCCAFFREY and JOHN MULLIN, were very much injured by burns and bruises.

The six men above named were employed in the establishment. The Police of the Seventh Precinct conveyed all of them to the New-York Hospital, where Dr. KENNEDY and the other Surgeons made an examination of their injuries. With the exception of the two LARKINS, it is thought that the injured persons will recover. The cause of the explosion had not been ascertained at a late hour last evening, but an investigation will be made to-day. There was very little damage done to the building and contents. The buildings where the accident occurred, occupy five lots in the middle of the block on Cherry-street, and are five stories in height. The force of the explosion shook the buildings in the neighborhood for the distance of four blocks, and so loud was the noise that many people ran from their houses to the street in great fright, under the impression that another powder magazine had exploded. The foreman of the bakery has made a statement to the effect that OWEN LARKIN, who had charge of a portion of the ovens, was neglectful of his duty in not keeping them at the right temperature and free from gas.

GEN. TOM THUMB—SPURIOUS PICTURES.—Gen. TOM THUMB and wife would caution the public against spurious Cartes de visite of them. That advertised by a Mrs. DEMOREST (called Madame) of Gen. TOM THUMB and wife, MINNIE WARREN, Commodore NUTT, and P. T. BARNUM, is not a photograph at all, but a miserable engraving, which is a libel on those whom it pretends to represent. The only real photograph (Carte de visite) of the bridal party, (four on a card,) are those taken by BRADY, and sold at the Museum, at twenty-five cents each. Cartes de visite of Gen. TOM THUMB and wife, fifteen cents each. Also, Commodore NUTT and MINNIE WARREN, on one card, fifteen cents. Sent by mail at same price. Address, American Museum, where these four wonderful little people are seen day and evening, for a short time only.

SHAMELESS AND UNMANLY PERSONALITY.—Some base and selfish persons interested in the sale of the card photographs of the Liliputians at the Museum, having found the Card de Visites offered by Mme. DEMOREST, of No. 473 Broadway, so generally inquired for both on account of their distinctness of animate outline and the interesting contrast and superior grouping in the figures and dresses, have sought to mislead the public in the sale of their tame and often dark and indistinct card pictures by irrelevant and very unmanly personal allusions. The ladies of this country will not tolerate such Barnumizing, and the parties certainly will be branded by every sensitive and intelligent lady in the community with the scorn and contempt which such unmerited attacks and allusions richly deserve. The merits of the picture require no defence.
